May Confront Derby-Eve Fans

Churchill Downs Target Of Rights Leaders March

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Negro civil rights leaders have announced plans for a march on Churchill Downs tonight creating a possible confrontation with the 25,000 fans who normally attend Kentucky Derby- eve races.

The Rev. A.D. Williams King, leader in the movement for an open housing ordinance, said Thursday he planned to "go house shopping — just to look, not buy" in the city's all-white South End, scene of violence during demonstrations three weeks ago.

King's brother, Dr. Martin Luther King, in Louisville for Derby week, said earlier he and the Southern Christian Leadership Conference "are 100 per cent behind using every means of persuasion" to get the city to pass a law banning racial discrimination in the sale or rental of housing property.

The march will occur about the time the Derby-eve crowd exits from Churchill Downs, also in the southern part of Louisville. If police approve the marchers' application for a parade permit, they must supply enough officers to keep order and reroute traffic.

If the permit is denied, a spokesmen said the group would march anyway. The marchers then would face arrests for violating a recent court injunction banning night marches and marches without permits.

The group will assemble at Wyandotte Park for a seven-block march to the Downs. Wyandotte is the area where two weeks ago marchers met up to 1,000 white hecklers who threw bricks, bottles and rocks. Police made a total of 500 arrests. The marchers apparently will not enter the Churchill Downs grounds.

There were these other developments Thursday: Officials said policemen and National Guardsmen will number about 300 more than usual for the Kentucky Derby Saturday.

Gov. Edward T. Breathitt said, "I cannot believe that the cause of open housing or any other facet of civil rights could be helped by demonstrations at Churchill Downs."

The National Committee against Discrimination in Housing announced it is demanding that the federal government deny Louisville funds related to urban renewal, housing projects, and the model city program unless the city's aldermen pass an open housing ordinance.

Negro leaders have promised some demonstration on Derby day, but have not said what form it will take.

'No Facts,' He Writes All Senators

Senate Ethics Committee Unmoved By Dodd's Plea

WASHINGTON (AP) — Members of the Senate ethics committee appeared unmoved today by Sen. Thomas J. Dodd's opening defense plea against their recommendation that he be censured for financial misconduct.

The Connecticut Democrat wrote all senators Thursday saying "there are absolutely no facts whatsoever on which to base a recommendation of censure for double billing" for travel expenses.

This was one of two grounds on which the bipartisan panel recommended last week, after a 14-month investigation, that Dodd be censured for conduct which "tends to bring the Senate into dishonor and disrepute."

The other was that he used for personal benefit at least $116,083 in campaign contributions and in funds raised through political testimonials.

Dodd aides indicated another letter dealing with this other aspect of the case may be sent to senators before the censure resolution is taken up in the Senate in about two weeks.

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., a member of the ethics committee, said Dodd's letter denying any intentional double billing dealt with "essentially the facts we considered."

Sen. Wallace F. Bennett, R-Utah, the committee's vice chairman, said it found the double billing was part of "a course of conduct" on Dodd's part and that this was the key to its recommendation for censure.

He said the committee stands on its information as represented in the stipulation of facts agreed to by Dodd at hearings on the charges against him.

Dodd's 6-page letter was dispatched shortly after Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., told the Senate he wished to apologize if he had offended any of his colleagues by saying that half the ethics committee members couldn't stand the investigation Dodd went through.

Long, the assistant Democratic leader, is the only senator so far who has spoken in defense of Dodd and announced he would vote against censure.

Dodd's letter was an effort to buttress his testimony that the double billings for travel expenses were not deliberate on his part but the result of sloppy bookkeeping.

He attached five letters dated between 1961 and 1964 and sent to an airline to request corrected billing of travel charges. He said the letters were offered to the ethics committee but rejected.

Renegotiated Contract OKd For Truckers

Could End 11-Day Strike-Lockout By 45,000 In Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — A renegotiated contract for 500,000 truck drivers across the nation was approved Thursday night. The pact could end the 11-day strike-lockout of more than 45,000 drivers which has crippled freight transportation in the Chicago area.

Frank Fitzsimmons, acting president of the Teamsters Union, said he was confident that Chicago truck drivers would be back to work by Monday.

Announcement of the reworked contract came amid published reports that control of the Teamsters has been shifted from the national headquarters back to local leaders, ending one-man rule of the powerful labor organization.

The revolt against the system established by James R. Hoffa, now serving an eight-year term in federal prison, was reported by the Los Angeles Times in a story from its Chicago bureau. It means the 1.8-million member union is returning to its historic fragmented power structure.

The decision reportedly was voted by the union's general executive board during a secret session Thursday in Chicago.

Fitzsimmons, emerging from a bargaining session with negotiators for the trucking industry, said the new contract will be submitted to union members across the country for a mailed vote.

The renegotiated agreement supersedes a national pact agreed on April 12.

7 In U.S. Ship Wreck Are Okay

DA NANG, Vietnam (AP) — Seven survivors from the wrecked American schooner Dante Deo were brought to Da Nang tonight and the leader of the group said, "The ground sure feels solid."

The schooner was reported to have been on a scientific expedition when she went aground on a reef in the Paracel Islands about 240 miles east of this city on the northeast coast of South Vietnam.

A U.S. Air Force amphibian plane flew to the islands, after distress signals were received, and made the rescue.

Picked up were six adults and a child.

First reports indicated they were the only persons aboard the Dante Deo when she ran aground.

All survivors brought to Da Nang appeared to be in good shape.

The leader of the group, Thomas Kurth, 30, Milwaukee, Wis., joyfully tossed his son Scott, 6, in his arms and said the ground in this northeast coastal city "sure feels solid."

Earlier reports from the United States had said more people were believed to have been on the Dante Deo, on a world cruise since 1965, but initial accounts here said it was believed the seven brought to Da Nang were the only ones aboard.

'Storm' Seen On Rail Plan Of Johnson

House Committee Due To Consider Proposal Tuesday

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the House Commerce Committee predicts a stormy session Tuesday when his panel takes up President Johnson's latest proposal to block a threatened nationwide rail strike.

"There is a lot of sentiment to make it stronger one way or another," Rep. Harley O. Staggers said today in an interview.

Johnson proposed Thursday establishment of machinery to block any rail strike until at least 1969. His plan calls for creation of a five-member board to try mediating the shopcraft dispute, with a compulsory settlement to be invoked after 90 days if necessary.

The unions, which seek more pay from the nation's railroads, immediately announced they would oppose the President's proposal in Congress, denouncing it as compulsory arbitration.

The railroads said they would not oppose the plan but favor amending federal law to deal with all such disputes, not just one.

Staggers said some members of his committee also feel Johnson should offer legislation that deals with all threatened nationwide transport strikes, rather than just the present dispute.

The West Virginia Democrat said he would give his own position when the hearings start Tuesday. He said the situation was too uncertain to offer any predictions at this time.

Two Democrats on the Senate Labor Committee, Sens. Wayne Morse of Oregon and Jennings Randolph of West Virginia praised Johnson for avoiding the extremes of seizure or what Randolph termed "outright compulsory arbitration."

Morse called the President's plan "a wise and statesmanlike solution" and said it is essential it receive swift Senate approval.

But Sen. Jacob K. Javits of New York, senior GOP member of the committee, said, "Before I can back the President's plan for a mandatory settlement, I will have to be satisfied this was the only way to avoid a railroad strike."

Slide Blocks Some Traffic On Highway

Heavy equipment was moved in this morning to remove a landslide of earth and rock which blocked the southbound section of the East Liverpool-Wellsville Rd. Thursday night.

An estimated 500 tons let go and settled across both lanes shortly before 8 p.m. Traffic coming to East Liverpool from Wellsville was not hampered, but southbound traffic had to be rerouted by way of Shadyside Ave.

The slide occurred just at the city limits.

Columbiana County State Highway Supt. C. G. Potter at Leetonia said a call was received from East Liverpool police that the slide had closed the road. The city street department sent a hi-lift to begin work before the state crew arrived.

The dirt was shoved back off the outside lane by 11 p.m., but traffic did not start through until midnight. Flares and signs were put up to warn motorists.

Tally Upholds Bush Victory At Wellsville

Canvass Sets Stage For O'Hara To File Recount Petition

The official canvass of returns from Tuesday's primary election, completed late Thursday afternoon by the County Election Board, confirmed that write-in votes given William Bush wrested the Republican nomination for Wellsville city solicitor from Delmar T. O'Hara, the incumbent.

The official canvass confirmed the unofficial tally exactly—giving Bush 244 to the 214 credited to O'Hara, whose name was printed on the ballot.

State law allows O'Hara until Thursday at 4 p. m. to file an expected recount petition. The official canvass was certified to Secretary of State Ted W. Panel OKs LBJ Plan

Youths, 19, Due Draft Call First

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's proposal for drafting younger men first has passed its first congressional test, but his idea for doing away with some 4,000 local draft boards got failing grades.

The Senate Armed Services Committee approved Thursday legislation that would require draft boards to call up youths starting at age 19 ahead of older potential draftees.

But it rejected the concept of consolidating the local draft boards—now manned by citizen volunteers—into hundreds of regional boards staffed exclusively by Civil Service personnel.

And the panel gave only limited approval to another proposed Johnson innovation—replacing the present system of induction, where the decision is up to the individual boards, with a lottery or random selection system.

The committee-approved legislation filled a gap left by the President's proposals—what to do about college deferments.

It suggested that college students in good standing should be deferred until they complete their undergraduate courses or reach the age of 24. Then they'd re-enter the draft pool along with the younger eligibles.

Republicans in the House earlier this year rapped Johnson for not offering a plan for handling undergraduate college deferments, which have become a controversial issue in the wake of enlarged draft calls to meet Vietnam war needs.

Under consideration in both houses of Congress is administration legislation to extend for four years the military draft law, due to expire June 30. The law requires youths to register for the draft at age 18 and keeps them from the ages of 18½ to 26 in a pool eligible to be drafted.

While the Senate panel did not rule out use of a lottery draft system, it questioned whether it would "really result in a fairer sharing of military service."

The universal lottery plan drew renewed backing from Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., in testimony Thursday before a House Armed Services subcommittee. The plan also was backed by Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of Selective Service.

But spokesmen for the U.S. Chamber of Commerce argued against the plan, maintaining local draft boards should retain full authority for determining which registrants should be called..

Third Peak Captured In Hard Fight

1,000 Reds Killed During Battle For Strategic Points

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Marines took Hill 881 North today, the last of three border peaks that have cost the Leathernecks nearly 1,000 dead or wounded and the Communists an estimated 1,000 killed in 12 days of some of the hardest fighting of the Vietnam war.

U.S. officers in Da Nang announced that the summit of the hill was occupied at 2:35 p.m. by a Marine company that met only "light resistance" in the final assault. This indicated that the North Vietnamese had pulled out of their entrenched positions, possibly slipping across the Laotian border just below the demilitarized zone.

Elsewhere in South Vietnam's northern sector, the South Vietnamese reported their second success this week in the Hue area 40 miles south of the demilitarized zone. A spokesman said a battalion of the Vietnamese army's 1st Division drove a company of guerrillas into a vise with another government battalion and a troop of armored personnel carriers Thursday. U.S. Army helicopter gunships joined in the battle, and 89 guerrillas were killed and five captured, the spokesman said.

Two days earlier, government troops reported killing 156 guerrillas in an all-night battle northwest of Hue.

Poor weather limited U.S. pilots to only 68 missions over North Vietnam Thursday. But U.S. Air Force planes returned to the Hanoi area to bomb the electrical transformer site seven miles north of the city again, and Col. Robin Olds of Washington, D.C., shot down his second MIG. It made him the first double MIG killer of the war.

The kill came in a 20-minute series of at least seven dogfights during the bombing of the transformer site. Olds' victim, a MIG21, was the 49th Communist

May Confront Derby-Eve Fans

Churchill Downs Target Of Rights Leaders March

Third Peak Captured In Hard Fight

1,000 Reds Killed During Battle For Strategic Points

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Marines took Hill 881 North today, the last of three border peaks that have cost the Leathernecks nearly 1,000 dead or wounded and the Communists an estimated 1,000 killed in 12 days of some of the hardest fighting of the Vietnam war.

U.S. officers in Da Nang announced that the summit of the hill was occupied at 2:35 p.m. by a Marine company that met only "light resistance" in the final assault. This indicated that the North Vietnamese had pulled out of their entrenched positions, possibly slipping across the Laotian border just below the demilitarized zone.

Elsewhere in South Vietnam's northern sector, the South Vietnamese reported their second success this week in the Hue area 40 miles south of the demilitarized zone. A spokesman said a battalion of the Vietnamese army's 1st Division drove a company of guerrillas into a vise with another government battalion and a troop of armored personnel carriers Thursday. U.S. Army helicopter gunships joined in the battle, and 89 guerrillas were killed and five captured, the spokesman said.

Two days earlier, government troops reported killing 156 guerrillas in an all-night battle northwest of Hue.

Poor weather limited U.S. pilots to only 68 missions over North Vietnam Thursday. But U.S. Air Force planes returned to the Hanoi area to bomb the electrical transformer site seven miles north of the city again, and Col. Robin Olds of Washington, D.C., shot down his second MIG. It made him the first double MIG killer of the war.

The kill came in a 20-minute series of at least seven dogfights during the bombing of the transformer site. Olds' victim, a MIG21, was the 49th Communist

3 Held To Courts In Theft Of Auto

Two Pennsylvania residents have been ordered held for the next term of the Hancock County Grand Jury and a third suspect, a 15-year-old boy, is being held for Juvenile Court in connection with the theft of a car in Newell April 21.

Squire John D. Herron Thursday bound Dennis A. Bladinger, 18, and James H. Zeffenfield, 19, both of Pittsburgh, to the Grand Jury and set bond at $500 each.

The three allegedly stole an auto belonging to Thomas Lemasters of Newell and took it to Pittsburgh, where it was recovered April 29.

At that time, Pittsburgh police notified Hancock County authorities of the suspects and the three were picked up in Newell the same day.

County Prosecutor Floyd Tarr said the 15-year-old was expected to be released on $500 bond today. The next term of the Grand Jury is scheduled for September.

Driver, 70, Charged In Mishap At Lisbon

LISBON — Cars driven by Charles Pete, 70, of 142 Pendleton St., Lisbon, and Harvey Dotson, 57, of Lisbon R.D. 4, collided Thursday morning at the junction of Sherman and N. Beaver Sts. No one was hurt, police said.

Police Capt. John Varner said Pete was driving east on Sherman, stopped for the Beaver St. stop sign, then drove into the side of the southbound Dotson car.

Both vehicles were damaged. Pete posted a $15 bond for a hearing Tuesday on a charge of failure to yield the right of way.

WHAT DOES THE BIBLE SAY?

QUESTION: Are infants proper subjects for baptism?

ANSWER: The New Testament gives neither a command for, nor an example of, infant baptism. The Bible teaches that before one can be scripturally baptized, the person must be taught, hear, believe, repent and confess. You are encouraged to examine the following passages: Mt. 28:19,20; Acts 8:12; and Acts 18:8.

When infants are baptized, the Lord's order is reversed. The New Testament plainly reveals that teaching, hearing, faith, repentance, and confession must precede baptism for it to be scriptural. And we all realize that it is impossible for an infant to do these things.

jet claimed by American pilots in Vietnam.

The United States also lost another plane Thursday, a Navy A4 Skyhawk, to ground fire during an attack on a surface-to-air missile site south of Thanh Hoa. It was the 530th U.S. plane reported lost over North Vietnam. The pilot was listed as missing.

The Marines completed their conquest of the three adjacent hills commanding some of the Communist infiltration routes from Laos and the demilitarized zone after nearly two weeks of attack and counterattack and almost incessant air and artillery pounding of the stubborn North Vietnmese.

The Leathernecks captured Hill 861—so named because it is 861 meters 2,798 feet high—last Friday and fought their way to the top of Hill 881 South on Tuesday.

They dug in Thursday night on the slopes of 881 North and early today began moving cautiously toward the top.

Resistance from troops of North Vietnam's 325th Division, who reportedly came across the demilitarized zone in February, had lessened over the past two days.

The last heavy fighting was reported early Wednesday morning when the Marines repulsed an attack by the Communists, suffered 22 dead and 69 wounded, and killed 78 North Vietnamese soldiers. Only some mortar and sniper fire was reported Thursday, and the Marines said there were no additional casualties from this.

U.S. military headquarters in Saigon said late today that in the 12 days of fighting 133 Marines were killed and 383 wounded. The American command said 551 North Vietnamese soldiers were killed.

But 24 hours earlier, Lt. Gen. Lewis W. Walt, commander of U.S. Marines in Vietnam, told a news conference at Da Nang that 157 Marines had been killed and 738 wounded in the battle for the hills from April 24 through Wednesday.

Three Jailed In Credit Card Investigation

Investigation into an alleged fraudulent use of a credit card involving three area men was being pressed today by Midland, Industry and Pennsylvania state police.

Held in custody at the Midland jail are John Hennis, 23, of 705 S. Chestnut St., New Cumberland; Charles Lee, 22, of 584 Fisher Ave., East Liverpool, and Wayne Reed, 20, of the Laurel Hill Motel near Chester.

Officers said they are being held for investigation in the fraudulent use of a gasoline firm credit card belonging to a Waterford Park track official, and for auto registration violations.

Hennis, a construction worker, faces charges of driving an auto with expired license plates and Reed, a painter, faces a charge of permitting his auto to be operated without valid plates.

Midland police said they became suspicious about a 1960 sedan with Nevada licenses which was passing through the borough recently.

Industry Patrolman Roy Hohenshell said he first spotted the auto Wednesday and because of its condition advised the driver to have it repaired.

Thursday he was notified by the proprietor of a service station occupants of the auto had attempted to purchase four truck tires with a credit card.

He again spotted the vehicle, and took the three into custody, transporting them to the Midland police station for questioning.

Pennsylvania state police also were notified and subsequent investigation indicated the three men obtained four new tires at a service station in Zelienople recently. Four tires were found yesterday in the trunk of the auto, police said.

3 Held To Courts In Theft Of Auto

Two Pennsylvania residents have been ordered held for the next term of the Hancock County Grand Jury and a third suspect, a 15-year-old boy, is being held for Juvenile Court in connection with the theft of a car in Newell April 21.

Squire John D. Herron Thursday bound Dennis A. Bladinger, 18, and James H. Zeffenfield, 19, both of Pittsburgh, to the Grand Jury and set bond at $500 each.

The three allegedly stole an auto belonging to Thomas Lemasters of Newell and took it to Pittsburgh, where it was recovered April 29.

At that time, Pittsburgh police notified Hancock County authorities of the suspects and the three were picked up in Newell the same day.

County Prosecutor Floyd Tarr said the 15-year-old was expected to be released on $500 bond today. The next term of the Grand Jury is scheduled for September.

LISBON — Cars driven by Charles Pete, 70, of 142 Pendleton St., Lisbon, and Harvey Dotson, 57, of Lisbon R.D. 4, collided Thursday morning at the junction of Sherman and N. Beaver Sts. No one was hurt, police said.

Police Capt. John Varner said Pete was driving east on Sherman, stopped for the Beaver St. stop sign, then drove into the side of the southbound Dotson car.

Both vehicles were damaged. Pete posted a $15 bond for a hearing Tuesday on a charge of failure to yield the right of way.

WHAT DOES THE BIBLE SAY?

QUESTION: Are infants proper subjects for baptism?

ANSWER: The New Testament gives neither a command for, nor an example of, infant baptism. The Bible teaches that before one can be scripturally baptized, the person must be taught, hear, believe, repent and confess. You are encouraged to examine the following passages: Mt. 28:19,20; Acts 8:12; and Acts 18:8.

When infants are baptized, the Lord's order is reversed. The New Testament plainly reveals that teaching, hearing, faith, repentance, and confession must precede baptism for it to be scriptural. And we all realize that it is impossible for an infant to do these things.

jet claimed by American pilots in Vietnam.

The United States also lost another plane Thursday, a Navy A4 Skyhawk, to ground fire during an attack on a surface-to-air missile site south of Thanh Hoa. It was the 530th U.S. plane reported lost over North Vietnam. The pilot was listed as missing.

The Marines completed their conquest of the three adjacent hills commanding some of the Communist infiltration routes from Laos and the demilitarized zone after nearly two weeks of attack and counterattack and almost incessant air and artillery pounding of the stubborn North Vietnmese.

The Leathernecks captured Hill 861—so named because it is 861 meters 2,798 feet high—last Friday and fought their way to the top of Hill 881 South on Tuesday.

They dug in Thursday night on the slopes of 881 North and early today began moving cautiously toward the top.

Resistance from troops of North Vietnam's 325th Division, who reportedly came across the demilitarized zone in February, had lessened over the past two days.

The last heavy fighting was reported early Wednesday morning when the Marines repulsed an attack by the Communists, suffered 22 dead and 69 wounded, and killed 78 North Vietnamese soldiers. Only some mortar and sniper fire was reported Thursday, and the Marines said there were no additional casualties from this.

U.S. military headquarters in Saigon said late today that in the 12 days of fighting 133 Marines were killed and 383 wounded. The American command said 551 North Vietnamese soldiers were killed.

But 24 hours earlier, Lt. Gen. Lewis W. Walt, commander of U.S. Marines in Vietnam, told a news conference at Da Nang that 157 Marines had been killed and 738 wounded in the battle for the hills from April 24 through Wednesday.

Three Jailed In Credit Card Investigation

Investigation into an alleged fraudulent use of a credit card involving three area men was being pressed today by Midland, Industry and Pennsylvania state police.

Held in custody at the Midland jail are John Hennis, 23, of 705 S. Chestnut St., New Cumberland; Charles Lee, 22, of 584 Fisher Ave., East Liverpool, and Wayne Reed, 20, of the Laurel Hill Motel near Chester.

Officers said they are being held for investigation in the fraudulent use of a gasoline firm credit card belonging to a Waterford Park track official, and for auto registration violations.

Hennis, a construction worker, faces charges of driving an auto with expired license plates and Reed, a painter, faces a charge of permitting his auto to be operated without valid plates.

Midland police said they became suspicious about a 1960 sedan with Nevada licenses which was passing through the borough recently.

Industry Patrolman Roy Hohenshell said he first spotted the auto Wednesday and because of its condition advised the driver to have it repaired.

Thursday he was notified by the proprietor of a service station occupants of the auto had attempted to purchase four truck tires with a credit card.

He again spotted the vehicle, and took the three into custody, transporting them to the Midland police station for questioning.

Pennsylvania state police also were notified and subsequent investigation indicated the three men obtained four new tires at a service station in Zelienople recently. Four tires were found yesterday in the trunk of the auto, police said.

An Interpretation By Lausche

So many interpretations of the Ohio Bond Commission turndown by Ohio voters have been flying around since last Tuesday night that one more hardly is worth noticing.

But something about Sen. Frank J. Lausche's idea of what happened catches the eye and tickles the imagination. He says the turndown sounded an alarm against the rising cost of government. "It's a message from the people to Congress to retrench," he believes.

What catches the eye and tickles the imagination here is the thought of what would happen if the people who turned down OBC had a chance to vote on long-term indebtedness procedures of the federal government.

It still comes as a shock to most Americans and assuredly to Sen. Lausche, whose money views are orthodox, that the federal government uses its money power to speed up and slow down the economy — the Keynes doctrine that Franklin D. Roosevelt once nut-shelled with this comment: "We owe the money to our selves."

The federal government can use its money power in this unorthodox way because U.S. citizens are so remote from it that they have nothing to say about its procedures. If they did, federal taxes would be negligible. Foreign aid would never have been heard of. There would be no federal debt, except for war costs. Deficit financing never would have been heard of. No one would have dared to dream about running an anti-Communist crusade in Southeast Asia.

The United States still would be counting on horse cavalry, using observation balloons, driving on dirt roads and practicing isolationism.

For that matter, there could have been no Bell Telephone System, General Motors, U.S. Steel or anything else that depended on going into long-term debt.

Cleanup Incentive

Now comes the time of year when the bright sunshine of spring reveals the shabby and dingy areas of communities in the district, and cleanup campaigns are launched by self - conscious wives, hopeful municipal governments and inspired booster groups.

This year, the East Liverpool Board of Realtors is adding a little incentive to a "cleanup, fixup, paintup" drive, by encouraging householders to vie for cash prizes in a districtwide contest starting Monday.

Realtors more than most business and professional men know the value of civic pride in a community, a concern by citizens for their way of life, their homes, their schools and their families.

People who have this pride do take care of their homes and businesses, operate them efficiently and mutter impatiently about the neighbors who let the paint crack and permit rust to collect on the downspouts.

We think the realtors have come up with an excellent idea — not just in providing a little incentive for community improvement, but in focusing attention on the need.

Political Generation Gap

What could be more interesting to politicians on the eve of the 1968 national election than the much-discussed generation gap?

Here is something everybody is talking about as a sociological curiosity that could be a political make-or-break element in 1968. To politicians it could be the most important problem of the next presidential campaign.

The party that can take greater advantage of the credo that Americans under 30 will not take seriously the word of people over 30 for anything of importance could do to the two party system what the New Dealers did in the 1930s when they lined up the Negro vote.

It could attract to itself the voting support for years to come of a minority large enough to constitute a balance of power in naional politics.

This is the critical importance of the Republican party's new faces and the new ideas that are coming out of new minds that go with the new faces.

This is the potential Republican factor to balance the fading power of the Kennedy dynasty in Democratic politics. Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of New York is still demonstrating political magnetism among younger voters, but he is showing signs of over-exposure. His image is not as bright and clear as it was when his brother was in the White House and he stood in the background.

If President Kennedy had lived he now would be nearing the end of his second term — that dreaded time in presidential politics when there are no worlds left to conquer.

To some degree, his brother Robert has begun to suffer from the same political blight that catches up to all presidents at the end of two terms. It even caught up to Franklin D. Roosevelt, who was elected four times but never was effectual after 1940 in anything but wartime leadership.

Both parties want the youth vote. But the Republican party will be going after it with new faces and new ideas, if its strategists take advantage of their most valuable assets.

If they neglect these assets, they will have lost their advantage by default. The hard fact is that the Democratic party simply has run out of gas, as far as new faces are concerned. Its leadership has grown old, along with its ideas.

It is unthinkable that under-30 voters of 1968 might be neglected by both parties — the Democrats because they have no fresh ideas or new faces, the Republicans because of internal differences that might rob the party of its chance to organize an opposition to policies of the Johnson administration that will be ripe for debate next year — chiefly including the war in Vietnam.

Chance To Serve

Do you have spare time on your hands? If so, here's an opportunity to employ it in a constructive manner.

Between 20 and 30 adult advisers are needed for 4-H work in the East Liverpool area.

The principal requisite, according to Robert Lewis, Columbiana County extension agent for 4-H work, is a sincere interest in working with young people.

Details may be obtained by sending your name, address and phone number to the extension service office at 113 South Market St., Lisbon.

The pay — "the satisfaction, enjoyment and pride in working with young people," according to Lewis.

What more could one ask?

Ghastly And Ghostly

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

This has been an astonishing two weeks, not so much for what was said as for what was illustrated — that the war is there but the noise is here.

In the grimy war in Vietnam, Marines fought and died for a couple of hills and U.S. planes bombed MIG bases and missile sites. But in a sense the war has been not only ghastly but ghostly.

The enemy operates almost silently, moving men, fighting, assassinating, melting into the jungle, reappearing, spreading death, dying, saying little, but determined to overcome.

U.S. forces there move quietly, too, although their deeds and daring are duly reported in the newspapers at home. But it's a war far away. Printer's ink is a bleak substitute for blood; a crinkling paper is not as impressive as guns.

HERE AT home politicians made up in sound what they lacked in fury. Democrats wrangled with Democrats about the war, Republicans with Republicans, like a frustrated kettle that has to sit on a hot stove and can only bubble and boil.

President Johnson, who might have been expected in another kind of war to give pep talks to the nation with vast promises of retaliation and annihilation for the enemy, has been restrained.

The restraint was imposed on him by the nature of the war and the criticism at home.

It's a limited war with no intention of invading North Vietnam. Thus Johnson can't talk of driving the enemy back into North Vietnam.

With all the criticism heaped on him, Johnson could have chosen to go after his critics with angry attacks and talks to the nation on television. But he decided to play it on a low key, perhaps to avoid more criticism.

But the critics keep going. Yet, there is no evidence they have dented his determination to see the war through even a little. At times he seems to operate as quietly as Hanoi.

Anyone who thinks Johnson can be deterred had better remember the promise he made two years ago when Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, wanted more than the 60,000 men he had then.

"We have met and taken action to meet the requests made by Gen. Westmoreland," Johnson said in 1965, "and as other needs appear we will promptly meet them." And he added:

"We do not intend to let up until the aggression ceases."

NOW THE U.S. forces in Vietnam number about 440,000. Just a week ago in this country Westmoreland indicated he needed still more men, but was vague on how many.

At a news conference this week Johnson, too, was vague about when and how many more men will be sent to the war. But, in view of his promise in 1965, there can be no doubt more will be sent.

But it was the critics, never shy, who almost reached the screeching stage these past two weeks, and for a couple of unusual reasons.

While he was here Westmoreland complained criticism at home encouraged the enemy to keep on fighting. This put the critics on the defensive for a change, judging from the intensity of their reaction, at least among Democrats.

The pro - Johnson Democrats couldn't endure this and sprang to his defense. The result was a Democratic yelling match. Not to be outdone, this week the Republicans cannibalized one another while trying to decide whether they could agree on the war.

It was deafening, but hardly enlightening, and it wound up being a study in futility for there is no sign it had any effect on Johnson at all.

Odd Facts

The discovery of X-rays by Wilhelm Konrad Roentgen (1845-1923) was one of the most important events in modern physics, because of the information these rays supply concerning the nature and properties of matter, and their effects on living tissue. X-rays were so named because they were at the time of their discovery of unknown origin, hence the use of "X" as the unknown.

Yellowstone, the oldest and largest of U.S. national parks, is also the oldest large wildlife preserve in the nation. Its forests and valleys support a number of large animals, including elk, deer, antelope, mountain sheep, buffalo, moose and grizzly bear. Most of these animals have lost their fear of man after many years of protection.

The U.S. population, expanding as it is at the rate of 260 an hour, will reach 200 million early next year — according to estimate.

A Poor Cultivating Tool

CIA Saga May Bring Storm

By Victor Riesel

WASHINGTON — There will be less cloak and more dagger in the upcoming escalation of the CIA saga. The ramparts are quiet now in the private war of Walter and Victor Reuther against labor's elder statesmen. But not for long.

Victor Riesel

The Reuthers are continuing their barrage of charges that the nation's number one labor leader, George Meany, and his AFL-CIO International Affairs Dept. were the conduit of CIA cash being funneled to anti-Communist forces abroad. Now it can be expected that the charges will reverse — perhaps boomerang.

These elder statesmen are wise. Their private intelligence networks — without which no leader succeeds — report that the accusers themselves may have been conduits for an extraordinary flow of cash to favored foreign leaders, especially in Germany and Italy.

Despite Mr. Meany's skilled use of the "cool" there's no doubt that the CIA-Reuther story will get a full treatment during the AFL-CIO's high command session here shortly.

THERE MUST be a review of the CIA "story." It is momentarily out of the headlines — but not out of this world. The underground battle for labor leadership continues across the world. Tough forces which reflect Mr. Meany's immovable opposition to accommodating the Communist lands are battling against the accommodationists inside every international labor secretariat — and fight fiercely inside every national labor movement across the world.

They fight because they know that the labor leader of yesterday quite frequently becomes the prime minister of tomorrow. He who leads labor abroad frequently leads his nation.

Mr. Meany, just back from Germany, believes the U.S. should get something for its "bridges to the East." Like the tearing down of the Berlin Wall. Value for value, says he.

And in these background battles, the forces and philosophers of Meany's tradition have been hurt by charges that they front for the CIA — meaning, in the final analysis, the White House and the Pentagon.

The Meany forces are not quite certain just why the Reuthers unleashed the CIA saga. The record shows that the CIA was told bluntly to "Keep its hands off American labor."

THAT OCCURRED early in '53 in the office of the late Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, then CIA Director. This never has been reported, but Meany, David Dubinsky, Jay Lovestone and the late AFL vice president, Matthew Woll, creator of the federation's global Free Trade Union Committee, visited him in his office. They told him to keep CIA agents away from labor and not to harass the committee or its officials, nor to attempt to use it as a cover. Smith agreed.

Since then the AFL — especially Dubinsky's ladies garment workers — has given the Communist-besieged European labor movement millions of dollars. Dubinsky, for example, even lent the Dutch railroad workers $100,000 right after the war so they could rebuild their union and stave off the Communists.

True, a few unions did run "cover" for CIA ten years later. But some were units of Walter Reuther's own CIO.

And as of the moment, at least one of them has not yet been publicly exposed.

What confounds the Meany bloc of leaders is the persistent Reuther criticism of the national labor movement's spending abroad.

THE REUTHERS have long been active on foreign fronts. They spent considerable cash in the early days of the German Federal Republic, building a man named Otto Brenner into a power in that country's Metal Workers — now the world's largest union — of which Brenner is today president. Also, the Reuthers spent heavily of time, money and manpower in France and Italy. Generally they back forces to the left of those supported by Mr. Meany.

Today the Reuthers are active in the Spanish labor and youth underground. The auto union funnels money into underground schools for activists there — especially through the metal trades unions.

The Reuthers have also shifted their concentrations from the European mainland to Africa, Latin America, and even to Japan.

It is an understatement merely to say that this war within a war is vital A world's at stake. Remember, the labor leader of yesterday is the prime minister of tomorrow — from Singapore to Kingston, from Conakry to Caracas.

Fire Away!

People who live in glass houses nowadays can throw stones without fear.

Glass was once a fragile material limited to keeping liquids in and the weather out, but now it can be as strong as steel, as light as cork, as flexible as a spring, or as soft as cotton. Heat - resistant glasses can be baked cherry red and plunged into ice water without breaking. One type of glass can be sawed and drilled with carpenter's tools. Some superstrength glass tubing can be pounded into wood like nails.

Though man has been making glass for at least 5,000 years, only in recent times have scientists begun to understand and utilize its amazing versatility, the National Geographic Society says.

Alarmed by the number of windows broken during anti - American demonstrations abroad, United States embassies and consulates in certain countries are installing shatterproof glass. The laminated material is virtually impenetrable to hand - thrown objects such as rocks and bricks.

Likewise, new schools in New York City are being equipped with safety glass. Said one official: "Vandals can even swing bats against this new hardened glass, and all they will get is a bounce-back."

Replacing broken panes in New York City schools costs more than a million dollars every year, officials report.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Little League Needs Emphasized

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

Does the public know of the baseball field situation in East Liverpool? This includes Little League, Pony League and regulation fields. I know the Little League is short on fields and the Pony League has only one field and there is only one regulation field in town. I should say in or near town.

Because of the shortage of regulation fields, I want the public to know that the youth of this city are actually being deprived of a necessity. Where is the best place for a boy 16 to 18 years old to let off steam? On a baseball field? In a pool room? In a booth of a restaurant? Out riding in an automobile?

I think we will all agree the best place is on a baseball diamond. The problem is we just don't have enough baseball fields. Oh yes, we have had promises. Last spring we were promised a field would be built on the city land fill. It is now over a year later and still no field. I "bugged" the Park Commissioners for two months to no avail. Again I say we got promises but no field. They talked with me about a long-range program for building several fields, but the long-range program must still be long range.

I'm sure a financial problem isn't the reason this situation exists. Goodness knows we're paying enough taxes. The city owns acres of land on the land fill on outer St. Clair Ave., so there should be no problem of space. Since the city owns its own trucks and dozers, there is enough equipment to do the job. So. . .if we have the land, the money and the equipment why can't we have more baseball fields? There is only one reason. Someone isn't doing his job.

American Legion Post 374 spends nearly $1,000 a season on the Legion baseball program. What good is a car without a road? What good is a racehorse without a track? What good is a ball team without a field?

Our team has been granted permission to practice on the Crucible field in Midland. Last season we played our home games on that field. This season we will play part of our home games at Colt Field and the remainder in Midland. There are five baseball teams who will be using Colt Field. Utilizing the field in every way does not prove adequate.

I feel that Post 374 is doing its part to finance a baseball team and provide proper supervision. It is the duty of the city to provide fields for its youth.

You as reader might ask what you can do to help. If you are interested as I am you might do the same as I am going to do. I will attend the next session of City Council and I want someone to tell me who is responsible for this situation. Do you want to hear the answers? Do you have questions to ask?

I am writing solely on my own, and in no way represent any organization or group.

Thanks To Those Who Voted 'No'

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

We would like to thank all the people in Wellsville who voted No for the school levy.

We would like to thank them for taking away from us football, for taking away basketball, for taking away track, for depriving us of our clubs and organizations and our most prized activity—the prom.

Thank you for everything you No voters took away.

Now that we have thanked you from the bottom of our hearts, you can start thanking yourselves. When you see the youth of your city on the street corners late at night, smoking cigarettes and causing trouble, remember YOU helped put them there.

This letter, I guess, won't help us much now, but clip it out, and read it before the next election. Correct your mistake the next time.

Roosevelt once nut-shelled with this comment: "We owe the money to our selves."

The federal government can use its money power in this unorthodox way because U.S. citizens are so remote from it that they have nothing to say about its procedures. If they did, federal taxes would be negligible. Foreign aid would never have been heard of. There would be no federal debt, except for war costs. Deficit financing never would have been heard of. No one would have dared to dream about running an anti-Communist crusade in Southeast Asia.

The United States still would be counting on horse cavalry, using observation balloons, driving on dirt roads and practicing isolationism.

For that matter, there could have been no Bell Telephone System, General Motors, U.S. Steel or anything else that depended on going into long-term debt.

Cleanup Incentive

Now comes the time of year when the bright sunshine of spring reveals the shabby and dingy areas of communities in the district, and cleanup campaigns are launched by self - conscious wives, hopeful municipal governments and inspired booster groups.

This year, the East Liverpool Board of Realtors is adding a little incentive to a "cleanup, fixup, paintup" drive, by encouraging householders to vie for cash prizes in a districtwide contest starting Monday.

Realtors more than most business and professional men know the value of civic pride in a community, a concern by citizens for their way of life, their homes, their schools and their families.

People who have this pride do take care of their homes and businesses, operate them efficiently and mutter impatiently about the neighbors who let the paint crack and permit rust to collect on the downspouts.

We think the realtors have come up with an excellent idea — not just in providing a little incentive for community improvement, but in focusing attention on the need.

Political Generation Gap

What could be more interesting to politicians on the eve of the 1968 national election than the much-discussed generation gap?

Here is something everybody is talking about as a sociological curiosity that could be a political make-or-break element in 1968. To politicians it could be the most important problem of the next presidential campaign.

The party that can take greater advantage of the credo that Americans under 30 will not take seriously the word of people over 30 for anything of importance could do to the two party system what the New Dealers did in the 1930s when they lined up the Negro vote.

It could attract to itself the voting support for years to come of a minority large enough to constitute a balance of power in naional politics.

This is the critical importance of the Republican party's new faces and the new ideas that are coming out of new minds that go with the new faces.

This is the potential Republican factor to balance the fading power of the Kennedy dynasty in Democratic politics. Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of New York is still demonstrating political magnetism among younger voters, but he is showing signs of over-exposure. His image is not as bright and clear as it was when his brother was in the White House and he stood in the background.

If President Kennedy had lived he now would be nearing the end of his second term — that dreaded time in presidential politics when there are no worlds left to conquer.

To some degree, his brother Robert has begun to suffer from the same political blight that catches up to all presidents at the end of two terms. It even caught up to Franklin D. Roosevelt, who was elected four times but never was effectual after 1940 in anything but wartime leadership.

Both parties want the youth vote. But the Republican party will be going after it with new faces and new ideas, if its strategists take advantage of their most valuable assets.

If they neglect these assets, they will have lost their advantage by default. The hard fact is that the Democratic party simply has run out of gas, as far as new faces are concerned. Its leadership has grown old, along with its ideas.

It is unthinkable that under-30 voters of 1968 might be neglected by both parties — the Democrats because they have no fresh ideas or new faces, the Republicans because of internal differences that might rob the party of its chance to organize an opposition to policies of the Johnson administration that will be ripe for debate next year — chiefly including the war in Vietnam.

Chance To Serve

Do you have spare time on your hands? If so, here's an opportunity to employ it in a constructive manner.

Between 20 and 30 adult advisers are needed for 4-H work in the East Liverpool area.

The principal requisite, according to Robert Lewis, Columbiana County extension agent for 4-H work, is a sincere interest in working with young people.

Details may be obtained by sending your name, address and phone number to the extension service office at 113 South Market St., Lisbon.

The pay — "the satisfaction, enjoyment and pride in working with young people," according to Lewis.

What more could one ask?

Ghastly And Ghostly

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

This has been an astonishing two weeks, not so much for what was said as for what was illustrated — that the war is there but the noise is here.

In the grimy war in Vietnam, Marines fought and died for a couple of hills and U.S. planes bombed MIG bases and missile sites. But in a sense the war has been not only ghastly but ghostly.

The enemy operates almost silently, moving men, fighting, assassinating, melting into the jungle, reappearing, spreading death, dying, saying little, but determined to overcome.

U.S. forces there move quietly, too, although their deeds and daring are duly reported in the newspapers at home. But it's a war far away. Printer's ink is a bleak substitute for blood; a crinkling paper is not as impressive as guns.

HERE AT home politicians made up in sound what they lacked in fury. Democrats wrangled with Democrats about the war, Republicans with Republicans, like a frustrated kettle that has to sit on a hot stove and can only bubble and boil.

President Johnson, who might have been expected in another kind of war to give pep talks to the nation with vast promises of retaliation and annihilation for the enemy, has been restrained.

The restraint was imposed on him by the nature of the war and the criticism at home.

It's a limited war with no intention of invading North Vietnam. Thus Johnson can't talk of driving the enemy back into North Vietnam.

With all the criticism heaped on him, Johnson could have chosen to go after his critics with angry attacks and talks to the nation on television. But he decided to play it on a low key, perhaps to avoid more criticism.

But the critics keep going. Yet, there is no evidence they have dented his determination to see the war through even a little. At times he seems to operate as quietly as Hanoi.

Anyone who thinks Johnson can be deterred had better remember the promise he made two years ago when Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, wanted more than the 60,000 men he had then.

"We have met and taken action to meet the requests made by Gen. Westmoreland," Johnson said in 1965, "and as other needs appear we will promptly meet them." And he added: "We do not intend to let up until the aggression ceases."

NOW THE U.S. forces in Vietnam number about 440,000. Just a week ago in this country Westmoreland indicated he needed still more men, but was vague on how many.

At a news conference this week Johnson, too, was vague about when and how many more men will be sent to the war. But, in view of his promise in 1965, there can be no doubt more will be sent.

But it was the critics, never shy, who almost reached the screeching stage these past two weeks, and for a couple of unusual reasons.

While he was here Westmoreland complained criticism at home encouraged the enemy to keep on fighting. This put the critics on the defensive for a change, judging from the intensity of their reaction, at least among Democrats.

The pro - Johnson Democrats couldn't endure this and sprang to his defense. The result was a Democratic yelling match. Not to be outdone, this week the Republicans cannibalized one another while trying to decide whether they could agree on the war.

It was deafening, but hardly enlightening, and it wound up being a study in futility for there is no sign it had any effect on Johnson at all.

Odd Facts

The discovery of X-rays by Wilhelm Konrad Roentgen (1845-1923) was one of the most important events in modern physics, because of the information these rays supply concerning the nature and properties of matter, and their effects on living tissue. X-rays were so named because they were at the time of their discovery of unknown origin, hence the use of "X" as the unknown.

Yellowstone, the oldest and largest of U.S. national parks, is also the oldest large wildlife preserve in the nation. Its forests and valleys support a number of large animals, including elk, deer, antelope, mountain sheep, buffalo, moose and grizzly bear. Most of these animals have lost their fear of man after many years of protection.

The U.S. population, expanding as it is at the rate of 260 an hour, will reach 200 million early next year — according to estimate.

A Poor Cultivating Tool

CIA Saga May Bring Storm

By Victor Riesel

WASHINGTON — There will be less cloak and more dagger in the upcoming escalation of the CIA saga. The ramparts are quiet now in the private war of Walter and Victor Reuther against labor's elder statesmen. But not for long.

Victor Riesel

The Reuthers are continuing their barrage of charges that the nation's number one labor leader, George Meany, and his AFL-CIO International Affairs Dept. were the conduit of CIA cash being funneled to anti-Communist forces abroad. Now it can be expected that the charges will reverse — perhaps boomerang.

These elder statesmen are wise. Their private intelligence networks — without which no leader succeeds — report that the accusers themselves may have been conduits for an extraordinary flow of cash to favored foreign leaders, especially in Germany and Italy.

Despite Mr. Meany's skilled use of the "cool" there's no doubt that the CIA-Reuther story will get a full treatment during the AFL-CIO's high command session here shortly.

THERE MUST be a review of the CIA "story." It is momentarily out of the headlines — but not out of this world. The underground battle for labor leadership continues across the world. Tough forces which reflect Mr. Meany's immovable opposition to accommodating the Communist lands are battling against the accommodationists inside every international labor secretariat — and fight fiercely inside every national labor movement across the world.

They fight because they know that the labor leader of yesterday quite frequently becomes the prime minister of tomorrow. He who leads labor abroad frequently leads his nation.

Mr. Meany, just back from Germany, believes the U.S. should get something for its "bridges to the East." Like the tearing down of the Berlin Wall. Value for value, says he.

And in these background battles, the forces and philosophers of Meany's tradition have been hurt by charges that they front for the CIA — meaning, in the final analysis, the White House and the Pentagon.

The Meany forces are not quite certain just why the Reuthers unleashed the CIA saga. The record shows that the CIA was told bluntly to "Keep its hands off American labor."

THAT OCCURRED early in '53 in the office of the late Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, then CIA Director. This never has been reported, but Meany, David Dubinsky, Jay Lovestone and the late AFL vice president, Matthew Woll, creator of the federation's global Free Trade Union Committee, visited him in his office. They told him to keep CIA agents away from labor and not to harass the committee or its officials, nor to attempt to use it as a cover. Smith agreed.

Since then the AFL — especially Dubinsky's ladies garment workers — has given the Communist-besieged European labor movement millions of dollars. Dubinsky, for example, even lent the Dutch railroad workers $100,000 right after the war so they could rebuild their union and stave off the Communists.

True, a few unions did run "cover" for CIA ten years later. But some were units of Walter Reuther's own CIO.

And as of the moment, at least one of them has not yet been publicly exposed.

What confounds the Meany bloc of leaders is the persistent Reuther criticism of the national labor movement's spending abroad.

THE REUTHERS have long been active on foreign fronts. They spent considerable cash in the early days of the German Federal Republic, building a man named Otto Brenner into a power in that country's Metal Workers — now the world's largest union — of which Brenner is today president. Also, the Reuthers spent heavily of time, money and manpower in France and Italy. Generally they back forces to the left of those supported by Mr. Meany.

Today the Reuthers are active in the Spanish labor and youth underground. The auto union funnels money into underground schools for activists there — especially through the metal trades unions.

The Reuthers have also shifted their concentrations from the European mainland to Africa, Latin America, and even to Japan.

It is an understatement merely to say that this war within a war is vital. A world's at stake. Remember, the labor leader of yesterday is the prime minister of tomorrow — from Singapore to Kingston, from Conakry to Caracas.

Fire Away!

People who live in glass houses nowadays can throw stones without fear.

Glass was once a fragile material limited to keeping liquids in and the weather out, but now it can be as strong as steel, as light as cork, as flexible as a spring, or as soft as cotton. Heat - resistant glasses can be baked cherry red and plunged into ice water without breaking. One type of glass can be sawed and drilled with carpenter's tools. Some superstrength glass tubing can be pounded into wood like nails.

Though man has been making glass for at least 5,000 years, only in recent times have scientists begun to understand and utilize its amazing versatility, the National Geographic Society says.

Alarmed by the number of windows broken during anti - American demonstrations abroad, United States embassies and consulates in certain countries are installing shatterproof glass. The laminated material is virtually impenetrable to hand - thrown objects such as rocks and bricks.

Likewise, new schools in New York City are being equipped with safety glass. Said one official: "Vandals can even swing bats against this new hardened glass, and all they will get is a bounce-back."

Replacing broken panes in New York City schools costs more than a million dollars every year, officials report.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Little League Needs Emphasized

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

Does the public know of the baseball field situation in East Liverpool? This includes Little League, Pony League and regulation fields. I know the Little League is short on fields and the Pony League has only one field and there is only one regulation field in town. I should say in or near town.

Because of the shortage of regulation fields, I want the public to know that the youth of this city are actually being deprived of a necessity. Where is the best place for a boy 16 to 18 years old to let off steam? On a baseball field? In a pool room? In a booth of a restaurant? Out riding in an automobile?

I think we will all agree the best place is on a baseball diamond. The problem is we just don't have enough baseball fields. Oh yes, we have had promises. Last spring we were promised a field would be built on the city land fill. It is now over a year later and still no field. I "bugged" the Park Commissioners for two months to no avail. Again I say we got promises but no field. They talked with me about a long-range program for building several fields, but the long-range program must still be long range.

I'm sure a financial problem isn't the reason this situation exists. Goodness knows we're paying enough taxes. The city owns acres of land on the land fill on outer St. Clair Ave., so there should be no problem of space. Since the city owns its own trucks and dozers, there is enough equipment to do the job. So. . .if we have the land, the money and the equipment why can't we have more baseball fields? There is only one reason. Someone isn't doing his job.

American Legion Post 374 spends nearly $1,000 a season on the Legion baseball program. What good is a car without a road? What good is a racehorse without a track? What good is a ball team without a field?

Our team has been granted permission to practice on the Crucible field in Midland. Last season we played our home games on that field. This season we will play part of our home games at Colt Field and the remainder in Midland. There are five baseball teams who will be using Colt Field. Utilizing the field in every way does not prove adequate.

I feel that Post 374 is doing its part to finance a baseball team and provide proper supervision. It is the duty of the city to provide fields for its youth.

You as reader might ask what you can do to help. If you are interested as I am you might do the same as I am going to do. I will attend the next session of City Council and I want someone to tell me who is responsible for this situation. Do you want to hear the answers? Do you have questions to ask?

I am writing solely on my own, and in no way represent any organization or group.

Thanks To Those Who Voted 'No'

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

We would like to thank all the people in Wellsville who voted No for the school levy.

We would like to thank them for taking away from us football, for taking away basketball, for taking away track, for depriving us of our clubs and organizations and our most prized activity—the prom.

Thank you for everything you No voters took away.

Now that we have thanked you from the bottom of our hearts, you can start thanking yourselves. When you see the youth of your city on the street corners late at night, smoking cigarettes and causing trouble, remember YOU helped put them there.

This letter, I guess, won't help us much now, but clip it out, and read it before the next election. Correct your mistake the next time.

James F. Stoakes of R.D. 2 was fined $15 and costs and given a 15-day suspension of his operator's permit on a charge of speeding 75 miles an hour in a 60-mile zone. He was cited Tuesday on Route 30 by the Highway Patrol.

Roger E. Clendenning of 3255 Harding Ave. paid a fine of $10 and costs after pleading guilty to a charge of crashing a stop sign at the junction of old Route 30 and State Route 170. He was cited by the patrol Wednesday.

RONALD WOODBURN of R.D. 1 was fined $15 and costs on a charge of speeding 70 miles an hour in a 60-mile zone. He was cited by the patrol Thursday on the Y. & O. Rd.

Schiller of Springfield, Pa., also forfeited a $17.50 bond on a charge of speeding 70 miles an hour in a 60-mile zone. He was cited by the patrol Wednesday on Route 30.

The court ordered forfeiture of a $32.50 bond posted by Fred McWhorter of 524 Midland Ave., Midland, who was due for a hearing today on a charge of speeding 80 miles an hour in a 50 - mile zone. He was cited Thursday by the patrol on Route 7.

The court also ordered a bench warrant issued for McWhorter's arrest and instructed police to serve it upon him if he is found in East Liverpool.

Andre Kondrat of Niles forfeited a $17.50 bond on a charge of speeding 70 miles an hour in a 60-mile zone. He was cited by the patrol Thursday on Route 30.

Sam J. Masaris of Canton forfeited $32.50 on a charge of speeding 70 miles an hour in a 60-mile zone. He was cited by the patrol Wednesday on Route 30.

AFTER A lengthy hearing, the court acquitted Terry A. Sine of Toronto on a patrol charge of towing an oversize load without a special permit from the state. The patrol cited Sine April 26 on Route 7, alleging he was towing a house trailer which exceeded the limits of 40 feet long and eight feet wide for which special permits are required in moving on the highway.

The court ruled that the evidence showed that the Ohio Public Utilities Commission had granted a permit for movement of the trailer, but it was not in actual possession of the driver when he was halted. He called the violation "technical," but said the officer who made the arrest could not be criticized because he was complying with the law. Sine was defended by Bernard Fineman.

Hearings were due later for Henry Miles of Darlington, who pleaded not guilty to a charge of driving an auto without an operator's permit, and Milton D. Cook of Lisbon R. D. 3, who pleaded guilty to driving without a license and not guilty on a charge of operating a truck without the rear mud flaps required by state law.

Aide Speaks To Midland's Action Group

Ronald Wilson, executive director of the Hancock County Community Action Committee at Weirton, gave his personal concept of the CAC program during a meeting of the Midland CAC Thursday night.

Twenty attended the session at the Borough Building at which Wilson stated in a two-fold suggestion that since the program was for the poverty-stricken, they should be taking part.

He said further, the "power structure" of Midland should also attend meetings.

"These two groups must be at the heart of the program in order for it to be successful," he said.

A question - and - answer period followed.

The Rev. Jess Singleton was spokesman for Mrs. Lenora Payne, chairman of the legal committee, and said the committee has met with Mayor Eli Corak and decided the Beaver County Bar Association is to be asked for legal assistance for the new CAC center.

Mrs. Hattie Jones, chairman of the proposed day care center, reported an initial survey has been taken to determine the extent of interest. She said the committee is now surveying the number of children who would be aided by the center.

Mrs. J. C. Singleton, chairman, reported the grading of a playground area in the Midcrest district will begin when weather permits.

No action was taken on establishing an opening date for the new center.

Guests included Mrs. Francena Colamarino, Beaver County CAC coordinator, Jerry Moye, along with Mrs. Margaret Moss of the Beaver Falls CAC.

The next meeting will be June 1 at the Midcrest Community Building.

James F. Stoakes of R.D. 2 was fined $15 and costs and given a 15-day suspension of his operator's permit on a charge of speeding 75 miles an hour in a 60-mile zone. He was cited Tuesday on Route 30 by the Highway Patrol.

John E. Eiferd, 30, of R.D. 2 was fined $25 and costs on a charge of speeding 70 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone on Route 30. He was cited by the patrol Monday about 11 p. m. on the freeway near the north city limits.

Roger E. Clendenning of 3255 Harding Ave. paid a fine of $10 and costs after pleading guilty to a charge of crashing a stop sign at the junction of old Route 30 and State Route 170. He was cited by the patrol Wednesday.

RONALD WOODBURN of R.D. 1 was fined $15 and costs on a charge of speeding 70 miles an hour in a 60-mile zone. He was cited by the patrol Thursday on the Y. & O. Rd.

Otto F. Schiller of Springfield, Pa., also forfeited a $17.50 bond on a charge of speeding 70 miles an hour in a 60-mile zone. He was cited by the patrol Wednesday on Route 30.

The court ordered forfeiture of a $32.50 bond posted by Fred McWhorter of 524 Midland Ave., Midland, who was due for a hearing today on a charge of speeding 80 miles an hour in a 50 - mile zone. He was cited Thursday by the patrol on Route 7.

The court also ordered a bench warrant issued for McWhorter's arrest and instructed police to serve it upon him if he is found in East Liverpool.

Andre Kondrat of Niles forfeited a $17.50 bond on a charge of speeding 70 miles an hour in a 60-mile zone. He was cited by the patrol Thursday on Route 30.

Sam J. Masaris of Canton forfeited $32.50 on a charge of speeding 70 miles an hour in a 60-mile zone. He was cited by the patrol Wednesday on Route 30.

AFTER A lengthy hearing, the court acquitted Terry A. Sine of Toronto on a patrol charge of towing an oversize load without a special permit from the state. The patrol cited Sine April 26 on Route 7, alleging he was towing a house trailer which exceeded the limits of 40 feet long and eight feet wide for which special permits are required in moving on the highway.

The court ruled that the evidence showed that the Ohio Public Utilities Commission had granted a permit for movement of the trailer, but it was not in actual possession of the driver when he was halted. He called the violation "technical," but said the officer who made the arrest could not be criticized because he was complying with the law. Sine was defended by Bernard Fineman.

Hearings were due later for Henry Miles of Darlington, who pleaded not guilty to a charge of driving an auto without an operator's permit, and Milton D. Cook of Lisbon R. D. 3, who pleaded guilty to driving without a license and not guilty on a charge of operating a truck without the rear mud flaps required by state law.

Twenty attended the session at the Borough Building at which Wilson stated in a two-fold suggestion that since the program was for the poverty-stricken, they should be taking part.

He said further, the "power structure" of Midland should also attend meetings.

"These two groups must be at the heart of the program in order for it to be successful," he said.

A question - and - answer period followed.

The Rev. Jess Singleton was spokesman for Mrs. Lenora Payne, chairman of the legal committee, and said the committee has met with Mayor Eli Corak and decided the Beaver County Bar Association is to be asked for legal assistance for the new CAC center.

No action was taken on establishing an opening date for the new center.

Several Men Hurt As A-Plant Caves In

ROCK ISLAND, Ill. (AP) — State police reported today that a wall caved in at an atomic power plant under construction near Cordova, Ill., injuring an undetermined number of men.

"They found eight men," a police spokesman said. "We don't know the seriousness of their condition. We don't know if any are dead."

The first report was that an estimated 20 men had lost their lives in the accident.

The Rock Island County sheriff's office reported all available equipment had been sent to the scene. Cordova is on the Mississippi River, about 20 miles north of Rock Island and Moline.

Dr. Coppolino Checks Into Florida Pen

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP) — Dr. Carl Coppolino checked into the Florida State Prison Thursday night on a life sentence after his lawyers failed to win his freedom with an "illegal verdict" plea.

The 34-year-old Sarasota anesthesiologist also was denied a new trial Thursday, and was told he is not a legal pauper and will have to shoulder the costs of an appeal himself.

A jury in Naples, Fla., convicted Coppolino of second-degree murder last Friday in the death of his first wife, Carmela, 32, on Aug. 28, 1965.

The defense declared the verdict was illegal because the charge-murder with an injection of the paralyzing drug succinylcholine-implied premeditation and hence murder in the first degree.

F. Lee Bailey of Boston, Coppolino's chief attorney, asked Circuit Judge Lynn Sylvertooth to rule the verdict illegal and set his client free.

Silvertooth refused, then denied a motion for a new trial and refused to hear arguments for bail. This left Coppolino in the custody of the sheriff, who held an order to transfer him to the penitentiary at Raiford.

Immediately following the hearing, Sheriff Ross Boyer and two deputies ushered Coppolino to a patrol car for the 3½-hour trip to the prison.

Hancock Continues Survey In Home Fallout Protection

Hancock County residents are cooperating well in the West Virginia "Home Fallout Protection Survey," Andrew J. Kondik, county Civil Defense director, reports. He says about 53 per cent of the county's homes have been visited by Census Bureau interviewers.

The survey is being conducted statewide by the Census Bureau for the Department of Defense, Office of Civil Defense, with the cooperation of the West Virginia Department of Civil Defense and Mobilization. It includes only householders living in one-, two- and three-family dwellings.

Mail and personal interviews are being used.

Local residents, hired and trained, for the interviews, call on homes in small communities and rural areas, but in cities over 10,000, such as Weirton, residents have been sent questionnaires to return by mail.

The questionnaires then are fed into a computer and the fallout protection of the house is evaluated. This information, all confidential, is then sent to each householder, along with a Civil Defense booklet about fallout protection, Kondik explained.

Climax Seen In Senate On Funds Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — The end appears in sight in the bitter six-week Senate struggle over whether to continue in operation the controversial presidential election campaign financing plan enacted last year.

At stake is a plan that could mean millions of dollars in campaign funds for Democratic and Republican presidential candidates next year.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield finally won a debate limitation agreement Thursday. That is expected to bring the climactic votes in the dispute next Tuesday.

It also should bring final passage on that day or the next of the administration bill to restore business tax incentives, battleground for the fight over the election subsidy plan.

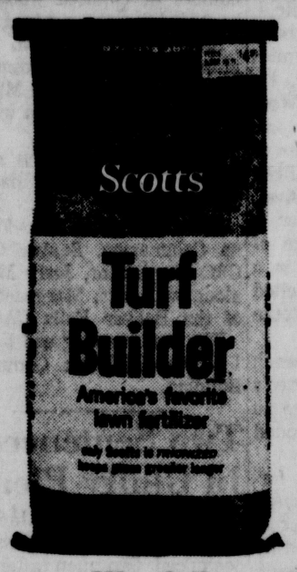

Foes of the financing plan said they were picking up supporters and were fully confident of victory Tuesday. They already have won three of five key votes — including a vote earlier this week for repeal of the plan.

That was supposed to have ended the battle, but Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., author of the financing plan, refused to let the issue die.

Several Men Hurt As A-Plant Caves In

ROCK ISLAND, Ill. (AP) — State police reported today that a wall caved in at an atomic power plant under construction near Cordova, Ill., injuring an undetermined number of men.

"They found eight men," a police spokesman said. "We don't know the seriousness of their condition. We don't know if any are dead."

The first report was that an estimated 20 men had lost their lives in the accident.

The Rock Island County sheriff's office reported all available equipment had been sent to the scene. Cordova is on the Mississippi River, about 20 miles north of Rock Island and Moline.

Dr. Coppolino Checks Into Florida Pen

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP) — Dr. Carl Coppolino checked into the Florida State Prison Thursday night on a life sentence after his lawyers failed to win his freedom with an "illegal verdict" plea.

The 34-year-old Sarasota anesthesiologist also was denied a new trial Thursday, and was told he is not a legal pauper and will have to shoulder the costs of an appeal himself.

A jury in Naples, Fla., convicted Coppolino of second-degree murder last Friday in the death of his first wife, Carmela, 32, on Aug. 28, 1965.

The defense declared the verdict was illegal because the charge-murder with an injection of the paralyzing drug succinylcholine-implied premeditation and hence murder in the first degree.

F. Lee Bailey of Boston, Coppolino's chief attorney, asked Circuit Judge Lynn Sylvertooth to rule the verdict illegal and set his client free.

Silvertooth refused, then denied a motion for a new trial and refused to hear arguments for bail. This left Coppolino in the custody of the sheriff, who held an order to transfer him to the penitentiary at Raiford.

Immediately following the hearing, Sheriff Ross Boyer and two deputies ushered Coppolino to a patrol car for the 3½-hour trip to the prison.

Hancock Continues Survey In Home Fallout Protection

Hancock County residents are cooperating well in the West Virginia "Home Fallout Protection Survey," Andrew J. Kondik, county Civil Defense director, reports. He says about 53 per cent of the county's homes have been visited by Census Bureau interviewers.

The survey is being conducted statewide by the Census Bureau for the Department of Defense, Office of Civil Defense, with the cooperation of the West Virginia Department of Civil Defense and Mobilization. It includes only householders living in one-, two- and three-family dwellings.

Mail and personal interviews are being used.

Local residents, hired and trained, for the interviews, call on homes in small communities and rural areas, but in cities over 10,000, such as Weirton, residents have been sent questionnaires to return by mail.

The questionnaires then are fed into a computer and the fallout protection of the house is evaluated. This information, all confidential, is then sent to each householder, along with a Civil Defense booklet about fallout protection, Kondik explained.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Susan Hayward will go to work Monday as Judy Garland's replacement in the movie version of the best-selling novel, "Valley of the Dolls."

NBC News provided copies of film from the odd numbered years from 1954 and CBS News from the even years.

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., who accepted the gift with Mrs. John F. Kennedy, said, "this valuable record of President Kennedy's career will be catalogued and made available to historians and scholars."

Johnson and wife Lady Bird flew to Texas Thursday afternoon. They are expected to stay until late Sunday or Monday.

Climax Seen In Senate On Funds Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — The end appears in sight in the bitter six-week Senate struggle over whether to continue in operation the controversial presidential election campaign financing plan enacted last year.

At stake is a plan that could mean millions of dollars in campaign funds for Democratic and Republican presidential candidates next year.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield finally won a debate limitation agreement Thursday. That is expected to bring the climactic votes in the dispute next Tuesday.

It also should bring final passage on that day or the next of the administration bill to restore business tax incentives, battleground for the fight over the election subsidy plan.

Foes of the financing plan said they were picking up supporters and were fully confident of victory Tuesday. They already have won three of five key votes — including a vote earlier this week for repeal of the plan.

That was supposed to have ended the battle, but Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., author of the financing plan, refused to let the issue die.

Facts and Fallacies about Jewelry

by W. D. ORR

FALLACY:
Emeralds actually come in many shades of green.

FACT:
May's birthstone, the Emerald, is queen of the beryl family of gems. Its lovely deep green color is essential. A beryl stone which is a beautiful pale green is still not an Emerald but an Aquamarine. The cool green of an Emerald makes it one of the most restful of gems . . . and it is one of the most valuable.

CONCLUSION:
If you can't give her an Emerald for her birthday, anniversary, or other occasion, you'll still please her with costume jewelry from our wide selection. Come in!

Facts and Fallacies about Jewelry

by W. D. ORR

FALLACY:
Emeralds actually come in many shades of green.

FACT:
May's birthstone, the Emerald, is queen of the beryl family of gems. Its lovely deep green color is essential. A beryl stone which is a beautiful pale green is still not an Emerald but an Aquamarine. The cool green of an Emerald makes it one of the most restful of gems . . . and it is one of the most valuable.

CONCLUSION:
If you can't give her an Emerald for her birthday, anniversary, or other occasion, you'll still please her with costume jewelry from our wide selection. Come in!

A Glenmoor man's 1949 sedan was damaged heavily while parked at W. 5th and Market Sts. at 4:45 a. m. today and he later told police the auto was rammed deliberately by another man with whom he had a dispute earlier.

Woolley named the two men he said were responsible and described the type of car involved. A headlight ring and chips of black paint found at the scene substantiated his report, officers said. Woolley told Patrolman Charles Coen he had a fight earlier in the evening with the two men. The auto was parked on W. 5th St. just off Market when struck, officers said.

Police also are investigating a hit-skip collision Thursday at 7:31 p. m. on Walnut St. at Potters Alley that damaged a parked 1962 auto owned by Mildred J. Porter of Lisbon R. D. 3.

Furnished with a description and a license number by two witnesses, police said the other auto was a 1959 sedan registered to a Valley Dr. man.

A passenger seated in the Porter car told police it was parked at the curb facing south at the corner of Walnut St. and Potters Alley. The other car, moving along Walnut St., hit the parked auto and then vanished into Potters Alley, he related.

The mishap also was witnessed by James Corbett of Walnut St., who was standing on Walnut St., officers said. He described the crash and furnished police with a license number.

A collision on Elizabeth St. at Pennsylvania Ave. Thursday at 4:05 p. m. damaged a 1949 model three - quarter ton pickup truck driven by Dennis W. Deems, 28, of Rogers and a 1965 sedan operated by Malcolm J. Milne, 74, of 1273 Erie St., officers said.

Patrolman James Woods said he came upon the accident scene while on routine patrol. Milne, driving off Pennsylvania Ave. onto Elizabeth St., went left of the center line and struck the truck on the left side, he said.

The mishap damaged the left front fender and door, the left rear fender and the front end of the truck and the hood, front bumper, headlight and left front fender of the auto, he reported.

2 Local Men Due Hearings At Midland

Two East Liverpool men are being held in Midland jail today, one charged with a hit-skip traffic violation and the other with carrying a deadly weapon.

Both were taken into custody Thursday night following a collision between a car and a parked station wagon near 5th St. and Railroad Ln.

Ronald Clark, 25, of 449 1st Ave., East Liverpool, is charged with leaving the scene of an accident.

Edward Jackson of 1215 Erie St. is charged with carrying a weapon — a "slip" knife.

Midland police said Clark's 1957 sedan struck the parked station wagon owned by Mrs. Ann Fedorka of Meadowbrook Estates, who was attending "ladies night" at a nearby health club.

Witnesses said Clark rounded a corner and the car hit the station wagon, but he failed to halt. The witnesses spotted the license plate and related the information and a description of the car to police, who located the vehicle at the west end of Penn Ave.

Clark is under $200 bond and Jackson $500 bond.

The mishap occurred at 8:56 p.m.

Infant Boy Who Fell 8 Stories Remains Critical

CHICAGO (AP) — A 16-month-old boy, who fell eight stories from a window of a downtown hotel, remained in critical condition today.

Officials at Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital said it was a near miracle that Rupert Christopher Burtan survived his tumble Thursday from a window on the 14th floor to a sun-deck on the fifth floor. The hotel has no floor numbered 13.

Surgeons determined that the boy had not suffered a skull fracture or internal injuries.

His right arm was severed just above the elbow, bones were broken in two places and all arteries and muscles in the arm torn loose, officials said. The child spent 3½ hours on the operating table as doctors repaired the muscles and blood vessels.

The tot had walked with his father, Dr. Rupert C. Burtan of Pittsford, N.Y., from their room to the elevator. His mother went to answer a telephone and in the interim the child toddled into a closet and toppled out a broken window.

The family was in Chicago to attend a meeting of the American Industrial Hygiene Conference.

10,200 Trees Are Planted

The Northern Panhandle Soil Conservation District tree-planting crew has planted approximately 10,200 trees on privately-owned land in Hancock County during the past week.

The trees were purchased through the district from the West Virginia Department of Natural Resources. Species planted included autumn olive, Norway spruce, white pine, Scotch pine, Chinese chestnut and black walnut. The district-owned tree planter, operated by William Proelloch, was used to do some of the planting.

Cooperators availing themselves of the services of the crew included Oak Glen Shool, Alfred Creighton, Dr. Dominic Brancazio and Earl Herron.

Recent new cooperators with the conservation district are Arthur Lewis, Chester; Robert Schon and Alfred Creighton, Shepherds Valley; Ted Poling, Wylie Ridge; Homer Flowers, Hudson Hill and John Frankovitch, Lyons Rd.

By signing a cooperative agreement with the district, these people have indicated their interest in conserving the natural resources on their property and a desire to develop a complete conservation plan, it was pointed out. They will cooperate with the Board of Supervisors of the district in the development of a plan which will be based on the proper use of the land and the needs of the cooperator.

Cooperators recently developing such plans include David McMillan, Creighton and Dr. Brancazio. These plans included a conservation plan map, a soils map and a woodland suitability map together with a record of what they plan to do with their land in the future.

Zuppe Heads Midland GOP

Samuel D. Zuppe of 1248 Ohio Ave. has been elected chairman of the Midland Republican Committee. He succeeds John Reider.

A 1946 graduate of Lincoln High School, Zuppe served as a paratrooper with the 11th Airborne Division for two years following graduation. An employe of the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co. since 1951, he has been a volunteer fireman for eleven years.

On May 15 Zuppe will complete a 32-hour course of study which will qualify him as an instructor in the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine. Zuppe's first job will be to locate suitable candidates for seven Borough positions, auditor, three councilmen and three school board directors, so there can be a two-party vote in November.

In other action at the reorganization meeting Friday, the Committee accepted the resignation of Mrs. Sue Tucker as committeewoman in the Third Ward. Reider will continue as committeeman in the Fourth Ward.

Offending Driver Flees

Parked Sedan Damaged; Crash Called 'Deliberate'

A Glenmoor man's 1949 sedan was damaged heavily while parked at W. 5th and Market Sts. at 4:45 a. m. today and he later told police the auto was rammed deliberately by another man with whom he had a dispute earlier.

Woolley named the two men he said were responsible and described the type of car involved. A headlight ring and chips of black paint found at the scene substantiated his report, officers said. Woolley told Patrolman Charles Coen he had a fight earlier in the evening with the two men. The auto was parked on W. 5th St. just off Market when struck, officers said.

Police also are investigating a hit-skip collision Thursday at 7:31 p. m. on Walnut St. at Potters Alley that damaged a parked 1962 auto owned by Mildred J. Porter of Lisbon R. D. 3.

Furnished with a description and a license number by two witnesses, police said the other auto was a 1959 sedan registered to a Valley Dr. man.

A passenger seated in the Porter car told police it was parked at the curb facing south at the corner of Walnut St. and Potters Alley. The other car, moving along Walnut St., hit the parked auto and then vanished into Potters Alley, he related.

The mishap also was witnessed by James Corbett of Walnut St., who was standing on Walnut St., officers said. He described the crash and furnished police with a license number.

A collision on Elizabeth St. at Pennsylvania Ave. Thursday at 4:05 p. m. damaged a 1949 model three - quarter ton pickup truck driven by Dennis W. Deems, 28, of Rogers and a 1965 sedan operated by Malcolm J. Milne, 74, of 1273 Erie St., officers said.

Patrolman James Woods said he came upon the accident scene while on routine patrol. Milne, driving off Pennsylvania Ave. onto Elizabeth St., went left of the center line and struck the truck on the left side, he said.

The mishap damaged the left front fender and door, the left rear fender and the front end of the truck and the hood, front bumper, headlight and left front fender of the auto, he reported.

2 Local Men Due Hearings At Midland

Two East Liverpool men are being held in Midland jail today, one charged with a hit-skip traffic violation and the other with carrying a deadly weapon.

Both were taken into custody Thursday night following a collision between a car and a parked station wagon near 5th St. and Railroad Ln.

Ronald Clark, 25, of 449 1st Ave., East Liverpool, is charged with leaving the scene of an accident.

Edward Jackson of 1215 Erie St. is charged with carrying a weapon — a "slip" knife.

Midland police said Clark's 1957 sedan struck the parked station wagon owned by Mrs. Ann Fedorka of Meadowbrook Estates, who was attending "ladies night" at a nearby health club.

Witnesses said Clark rounded a corner and the car hit the station wagon, but he failed to halt. The witnesses spotted the license plate and related the information and a description of the car to police, who located the vehicle at the west end of Penn Ave.

Clark is under $200 bond and Jackson $500 bond.

The mishap occurred at 8:56 p.m.

Infant Boy Who Fell 8 Stories Remains Critical

CHICAGO (AP) — A 16-month-old boy, who fell eight stories from a window of a downtown hotel, remained in critical condition today.

Officials at Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital said it was a near miracle that Rupert Christopher Burtan survived his tumble Thursday from a window on the 14th floor to a sun-deck on the fifth floor. The hotel has no floor numbered 13.

Surgeons determined that the boy had not suffered a skull fracture or internal injuries.

His right arm was severed just above the elbow, bones were broken in two places and all arteries and muscles in the arm torn loose, officials said. The child spent 3½ hours on the operating table as doctors repaired the muscles and blood vessels.

The tot had walked with his father, Dr. Rupert C. Burtan of Pittsford, N.Y., from their room to the elevator. His mother went to answer a telephone and in the interim the child toddled into a closet and toppled out a broken window.

The family was in Chicago to attend a meeting of the American Industrial Hygiene Conference.

10,200 Trees Are Planted

The Northern Panhandle Soil Conservation District tree-planting crew has planted approximately 10,200 trees on privately-owned land in Hancock County during the past week.

The trees were purchased through the district from the West Virginia Department of Natural Resources. Species planted included autumn olive, Norway spruce, white pine, Scotch pine, Chinese chestnut and black walnut. The district-owned tree planter, operated by William Proelloch, was used to do some of the planting.

Cooperators availing themselves of the services of the crew included Oak Glen Shool, Alfred Creighton, Dr. Dominic Brancazio and Earl Herron.

Recent new cooperators with the conservation district are Arthur Lewis, Chester; Robert Schon and Alfred Creighton, Shepherds Valley; Ted Poling, Wylie Ridge; Homer Flowers, Hudson Hill and John Frankovitch, Lyons Rd.

By signing a cooperative agreement with the district, these people have indicated their interest in conserving the natural resources on their property and a desire to develop a complete conservation plan, it was pointed out. They will cooperate with the Board of Supervisors of the district in the development of a plan which will be based on the proper use of the land and the needs of the cooperator.

Cooperators recently developing such plans include David McMillan, Creighton and Dr. Brancazio. These plans included a conservation plan map, a soils map and a woodland suitability map together with a record of what they plan to do with their land in the future.

Charge Filed In Strike At Mackintosh

The strike by clerical workers against the Mackintosh - Hemphill Division plants of E. W. Bliss at Midland and Pittsburgh continued in its ninth day today.

The clerical workers, seeking increased wage rates in a new contract, Thursday filed an unfair labor practices charge with the National Labor Relations Board, claiming the company is refusing to bargain in good faith.

Clerks are seeking a basic steel industry pay pattern, but the firm claims the company is a rolled products operation and not a part of the basic steel scale.

Efforts to mediate the dispute earlier this week at Pittsburgh failed.

Hourly workers of the plant have refused to cross the clerks' picket lines, and the firm claims the hourly workers are in violation of their contract.

Subdivision Regulations Decision Due By May 25

LISBON — The Columbiana County commissioners' office was crowded Thursday afternoon for a lengthy public hearing on subdivision regulations proposed by the Regional Planning Commission.

County commissioners were unable to agree on immediate adoption of the regulations despite the urging of RPC members and J. L. Morrissey, commission director. Commissioners decided to take the suggested changes under study and announce a decision not later than May 25.

TWENTY - EIGHT attended the meeting conducted by James W. Boyd of East Liverpool, president of the commissioners. In the audience were township trustees, developers, real estate men, land owners, surveyors, engineers, a laywer and an electric car researcher interested only in finding some spot in the county where he can work without being forced out by zoning regulations.

The commission members explained that the subdivision regulations have nothing to do with zoning. They told him zoning is applied only on vote by the municipalities and townships.

The 48 - page subdivision regulations book was reviewed by Morrissey and Horace McLean of McLean & McGraw, Youngstown consulting engineers preparing the county's comprehensive plan.

W. B. Moore Jr., Lisbon attorney, noted inconsistencies in the regulations and said more pages are devoted to defining terms than to the regulations themselves. Land owner Ramon Whinery of Guilford Lake said, "It would take a Philadelphia lawyer to understand them."

Morrissey defended the regulations and said the county should appreciate the effort of the subdivision committee—all volunteers — which worked for more than a year compiling them.

"Believe me," he said, "the regulations are for the public good and protection of property owners and a lot of people will be affected adversely if they are not adopted." He asked for their immediate adoption, subject to the changes suggested.

—:—

AT THEIR business meeting earlier, the commissioners:

Approved paying $616.75 to the concrete pile division of Raymond International, New York City, for seven test borings of earth and rock at the site of proposed Robert Bycroft retarded children's school on the county home farm.

Received notice from the Ohio Department of Liquor Control that Paul R. Crosser of Lisbon R. D. 4 has applied for a C-1 permit for Crosser's Corner (formerly Ken and Goldie's) at Guilford Lake, and objections, if any, are to be filed by June 2.

Gave the department notice there were no objections to the application of Frank's Market, New Garden, for a C-1 permit.

Approved a $10 travel allowance for Vincent C. Judge, county treasurer, to attend a Northeastern Ohio Treasurers Association meeting May 10 at Medina.

Hired Fred Heslep of Lisbon R. D. 5 as a retarded children's school bus driver at $198 per month to succeed Jack Hiscox, resigned.

Received word that Perch-No-More, Inc., of Youngstown, will be at the Courthouse May 13 to "pick up the spots that were missed on the original wiring" last year. Commissioners had the courthouse ledges wired with a "hot-foot" line to discourage roosting pigeons.

Arturo Toscanini, famous symphonic conductor, began his career as a cellist.

Child Blamed In Local Fire

A child playing with fire was blamed today for the blaze that damaged two East End buildings Thursday morning.

City firemen said the blaze originated in an apartment above Berlie's Diner at 461 Mulberry St. The apartment, which was gutted, was occupied by Sheryl and Sue Radcliffe.

A young boy put a piece of paper into the flames of a kitchen stove. When the paper started burning, he threw it into a nearby waste basket, causing the blaze, firemen said.

The entire upstairs apartment quickly became engulfed in flames and the fire spread to the attic of an adjoining building owned by Dorothy Halpate.

The building housing the diner and apartment is owned by Gladys Cronin of that address.

Firemen said no estimate has been made of the damage. The diner received heavy water damage. Firemen were on the scene for about two and a half hours and two were left at the scene to guard against a possible outbreak of the fire in the afternoon.

Need Cited For 4-H Advisers To Serve Liverpool District

There is a great need for 4-H advisers in the East Liverpool area, according to Robert Lewis, Columbiana County extension agent for 4-H work.

He said approximately 75 East End youngsters are on waiting lists for clubs which cannot be formed because of a shortage of volunteer leaders.

Lewis said the only pay of the "sometimes frustrating but enjoyable job is satisfaction, enjoyment and pride in working with young people."

Last year, 1,394 county boys and girls were enrolled in 94 clubs under the leadership of 232 volunteer advisers.

Twenty to 30 new advisers are needed in the Liverpool area. Lewis said many of the young people on waiting lists never have belonged to a youth organization.

He said a sincere interest in working with young people, 9 to 19, is most important for an adviser. Specific project skills and abilities are necessary for some aspects of 4-H leadership, he said, but there is also a need for organizational and activity leaders.

Lewis said those interested in serving should send their name, address and phone number to the: Cooperative Extension Service, 113 S. Market St., Lisbon, Ohio 44432.

Teacher Aide Need Studied By City's Education Council

The possibility of a teacher aide program for East Liverpool schools was among items discussed at a meeting of the Education Development Council Thursday night.

Thirty - one attended the session at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church parish hall at which results of a recent teacher survey were outlined.

TEACHER concern about non-teaching duties was revealed in the 13 - question survey taken of the faculty two weeks ago.

Glenn Waight, chairman of the planning committee, reported on the general results of the sampling of teacher opinion which had been prepared by the planning, administration and teacher committees of EDC.

The EDC approved a recommendation that representatives discuss with the board of education and the administration establishment of a teacher aide program, either through federal funds or by a volunteer program.

Supt. Paul Blair later in the meeting said training of aide personnel under the federal Manpower Act is included in a program of the Columbiana County Community Action Committee.

Beaver Local School District is currently utilizing an aide program with Title One funds.

Many city teachers indicated in the survey much time is spent away from teaching which could be undertaken by aides, such as money collection, preparation of materials, clerical work and noon-hour supervision.

WAIGHT reported only 150 of the 200 teachers supplied questionnaires returned them, and said there apparently was some belief on the part of the teachers the survey should have been undertaken by teaching profession members.

The EDCA approved a recommendation the East Liverpool Teachers Association undertake a survey of the teachers concerning their attitudes about educational improvement.

The survey indicated teacher interest in enlarged programs for slow learners, the need for more supplies and concern about the attitude of some pupils and parents.

Overcrowded classes were seen a problem by a number of instructors, and a recommendation was made to discuss with the administration and board in what way pupil - teacher ratios could be lowered in the future with community help.

WARD TAPPAN, chairman of the athletics committee, discussed the financing of the minor sports of baseball, track, gymnastics, wrestling and cross-country running which had been eliminated this year as part of cutbacks in operations because of lack of funds.

Tappan said the coaching costs of the sports amounted to $1,275, and 185 students had been involved. The EDC approved a recommendation Tappan meet with the board of education and Athletic Association to discuss the eventual restoration of the sports within financial possibility.

John Thompson, chairman of the public relations committee, reported on plans for a public opinion survey about the city's education system. He said a meeting is planned shortly with Prof. Paul Pfeiffer of Kent State University about preparation of the questionnaire to be used.

Jackman Vodrey, president, was in charge.

The 10-inch main will extend from E. 6th St. and Broadway to a point on W. 6th St. just west of the Diamond. In the work Thursday, a backhoe which was making an excavation on Broadway near E. 6th St. snapped a water service line running to the Dan-D-Bar.

2 Potters Hold Records . . .

The Columbiana County track and field meet, like the Kentucky Derby, is getting up in years. The 64th will unfold tonight at Salem's Reilly Stadium, with 206 athletes participating.

East Liverpool High School won't be around, however, all minor sports having been cancelled during the school year as an economy measure.

Though East Liverpool won't be represented, two Potter runners remain in the record books for the county meet.

Last year Greg Manning, as a junior, won the two-mile in 10:37.4. Since the event was run for the first time in high school meets, his time is the record until someone comes along and betters it. Wellsville's Paul Hood finished second to Manning a year ago and will be out to lower the standard tonight.

Another record-holder from East Liverpool is Jon Pilgrim, who set the mile mark in 1965 with a clocking of 4:31.6.

★ ★ ★

TONIGHT'S meet shapes up as a three-team battle among East Palestine, Salem and Wellsville. Wellsville looms strong in the running phase of the meet, but East Palestine is expected to score heavy in the field events, which could make the difference in the final outcome. Wellsville will have to depend almost entirely on its runners.

Wheeling Plans Revealed . . .

SWITCHING from the cinder track to the turf, James Edwards, president of Waterford Park and Wheeling Downs, has called a press conference for Saturday at the Ft. Henry Club in Wheeling.

He will present to the news media, senators, delegates and other dignitaries, the proposed reconstruction of Wheeling Downs and the recreational tourist attraction and employment that the rebuilding of Wheeling Downs will contribute to the Northern Panhandle area.

Members of the West Virginia Racing Commission and other state and local officials also will attend.

Super-Modified Cars Scheduled For Clinton Oval

Hank Jacoby of Franklin will try to keep the honors right here in Western Pennsylvania when the super-modified race cars return to action at Greater Pittsburgh Speedway on Sunday afternoon.

The Franklin driver is one of the best bets among the Keystone entries to beat the strong Ohio and West Virginia cars.

Ralph Quarterson of Sharon, Bill Bannick of Pittsburgh and Jerry Matus of Wampum also are given strong chances of coming off with a victory in the 25-lap main event.

Damascus 2-1 Choice In Field Of 14

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The betting public probably will give its main support to Damascus in Saturday's Kentucky Derby, but longshot Dawn Glory will be in a kind of favorite's role, too.

The colt who brought his Puerto Rican owners to the world's most glamorous horse race in their first fling at the sport will be carrying saddle cloth No. 8. That's the one that crossed the finish line first the past two years.

Every post position has been a winner at one time or another in the 92 Derbys, but for several it has been 25 years or more.

And for at least one, Lightning Orphan, the last win for post position No. 11 could be more than slightly prophetic.

It was in 1933 that Brokers Tip and Head Play roared down the home stretch while their riders flailed at each other with their whips in the only violent roughhouse in Derby history.

Since the invention of the film patrol, jockeys have avoided such tactics.

Civil rights leaders have threatened to disrupt this year's Derby and have hinted demonstrators might spread to the track.

Going from the inside post position that produced its last winner, Chateaugay, in 1963, will be Louis Rowan's Ruken, winner of his last three starts and victor in the Santa Anita Derby.

Mrs. Edith Bancroft's Damascus, carrying Bill Shoemaker in his 16th consecutive Derby ride, starts from the same No. 2 slot that sent Tim Tam to victory in 1958. Odds now have Damascus as the 2-1 favorite.

Perne L. Grissom's second try in the run for the roses, Dr. Isby, goes from the No. 3 gate which hasn't produced a winner for 25 years. Bill Hartack will be aboard, seeking his fifth Derby victory in eight rides.

Diplomat Way, Harvey Peltier's surprise winner in the Blue Grass Stakes, will start as No. 4, the position that sent Decidedly to victory in 1962. That was the year after Diplomat Way's rider, John Sellers, won his Derby on Carry Back.

Barbs Delight, owned by a trio of young Lexington horsemen, goes from gate No. 5, without a winner since Count Fleet and Johnny Longden turned the trick in 1943.

Wheatley Stable's Successor, the juvenile champion of 1966 who is still looking for his first win of 1967, starts as No. 6, which had its last winner in 1957 when Iron Liege nipped Gallant Man.

Proud Clarion, Darby Dan Farm's effort for two Derby victories in as many tries, will start from No. 7, last a winner in 1964 when Hartack got his fourth astride Northern Dancer.

Outside Dawn Glory, who will be wearing the number carried by both Lucky Debonair in 1965 and Kauai King last year, will be Field Master, seeking the first victory for No. 9 since Venetian Way in 1960.

Gentleman James, Michael Phipps' first entry in the Derby, will start from the same No. 10 gate that Dark Star left in his smashing defeat of f Native Dancer in 1953.

Outside of Freeman Keyes' Lightning Orphan will be Second Encounter, wearing the same No. 12 that Hoop Jr. carried in 1945 and starting from the No. 12 gate that held Kauai King last year when addition of a mutuel field garbled saddle cloth numbers and post positions.

Patrice Jacobs' Reason to Hail will leave from Jet Pilot's No. 13 gate with Charles F. Parker's Ask The Fare going from the same No. 14 position that Carry Back had.

If all 14 start in the 4:30 p.m., EST, Derby, the race will gross $162,200 and hand the winner $119,700 for about two minutes work.

The 93rd Derby will be televised (CBS) from 4-5 p.m., EST, and broadcast by radio (CBS) from 4:15-4:45.

Pittsburgh Takes Over No. 2 Spot

Jim Hart may be the biggest Met fan since Casey Stengel. Not for what the Mets do to the opposition. Which isn't much. For what he does to them.

And what he does to the Mets is amazin', absolutely amazin'.

"I can't explain it," the San Francisco Giants' third baseman said. "I just go up there swinging."

Whatever the cause, if Hart could play all his games against the Mets he'd probably break all of baseball's most cherished records.

He had a homer and scored twice Thursday night in the Giants' 3-1 victory over the Mets, boosting his season average against New York to .400.

But that isn't surprising. Last season he hit .415 against the Mets, collecting nine of his 33 homers and 20 of his 93 runs batted in. The season before, eight of his 23 homers came off Met pitching.

Two of his three homers this year have been against the Mets. The ninth-inning solo shot Thursday clinched it for the Giants, who had to survive a mild Met threat in the eighth.

Pittsburgh rallied for a seven-run seventh inning and whipped Los Angeles 9-3 while Houston took Philadelphia 4-1 in the only other major league games played. Chicago at Atlanta in the National League was rained out. There were no games scheduled in the American League.

Hart started it against the Mets' Don Cardwell—who allowed only four hits before leaving for a pinch hitter in the seventh—with a walk in the second. Singles by Hal Lanier and Tito Fuentes got one run.

The Mets tied it against Mike McCormick in the fourth, but the Giants went to 2-1 in the sixth on a double by Jesus Alou, a ground out and Willie Mays' ground single up the middle.

McCormick, who had a three-hitter going into the eighth, got into a jam with two pinch singles after one was out. Frank Linzy came on, got the next man to ground into an inning-ending double play and retired New York in order in the ninth.

The Pirates vaulted into second place, two games back of idle Cincinnati, on the strength of their comeback victory against the Dodgers. Maury Wills was the big gun against his old Dodger mates with two singles and a double.

His bases-loaded single drove in two runs and triggered the seven-run seventh inning that wiped out a 3-2 Dodger lead. Bill Mazeroski had a bases-loaded triple in the big inning that saw 13 Pirates go to bat.

A HAPPY FISHERMAN is Zigmond Szoc of Gardner, Mass., who holds his record lake trout he caught in Sunapee Lake, N. H. in 40 feet of water. The trout weighed in at 24 pounds, 2 ounces and is 37½ inches long. It took Zigmond 45 minutes to land. (UPI Telephoto)

Pittsburgh Phantoms Sued By Fired Coach

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A $677,540 suit has been filed against the Pittsburgh Phantoms of the National Professional Soccer League by Janos Bedl who was fired as Phanton coach.

Bedl asked $77,540 for lost wages and fringe benefits and $600,000 for what he called slander in the suit filed Thursday in U.S. District Court.

Bedl, formerly of Essen, Germany, was fired Monday by Phantom president Peter H. Block who said Bedl didn't command the respect of his players and asserted no discipline.

He was replaced by Co Prins of Amsterdam, Holland, who was named player-coach.

Yesterday's Stars

BATTING — Maury Wills, Pirates, had three hits and triggered a seven-run seventh inning with a two-run single in a 9-3 Pittsburgh comeback victory against Los Angeles.

PITCHING — Frank Linzy, Giants, worked 1 2-3 innings of perfect relief, pitching out of a jam in the eighth and preserving a 3-1 victory over New York.

Second was Jefferson Union with 59 while Mingo Junction scored 45½, Springfield 45, Conotton Valley 23 and Hopedale 9.

Holland paced Stanton with a double victory taking the pole vault at 7 feet, 6 inches and the 120-yard low hurdles in 18.5.

Minor won the 880-yard run in 2:15.6 while Kidwell took the high jump at 4 feet, 11 inches, Reese captured the 440 - yard run in 1:00.8 and Carouthers the 220 in 27.5.

Stanton also won the mile relay in 4:12.5, the shuttle hurdle event in 1:06 and the 880-yard relay in 1:58.7.

2 Potters Hold Records . . .

The Columbiana County track and field meet, like the Kentucky Derby, is getting up in years. The 64th will unfold tonight at Salem's Reilly Stadium, with 206 athletes participating.

East Liverpool High School won't be around, however, all minor sports having been cancelled during the school year as an economy measure.

Though East Liverpool won't be represented, two Potter runners remain in the record books for the county meet.

Last year Greg Manning, as a junior, won the two-mile in 10:37.4. Since the event was run for the first time in high school meets, his time is the record until someone comes along and betters it. Wellsville's Paul Hood finished second to Manning a year ago and will be out to lower the standard tonight.

Another record-holder from East Liverpool is Jon Pilgrim, who set the mile mark in 1965 with a clocking of 4:31.6.

★ ★ ★

TONIGHT'S meet shapes up as a three-team battle among East Palestine, Salem and Wellsville. Wellsville looms strong in the running phase of the meet, but East Palestine is expected to score heavy in the field events, which could make the difference in the final outcome. Wellsville will have to depend almost entirely on its runners.

Wheeling Plans Revealed . . .

SWITCHING from the cinder track to the turf, James Edwards, president of Waterford Park and Wheeling Downs, has called a press conference for Saturday at the Ft. Henry Club in Wheeling.

He will present to the news media, senators, delegates and other dignitaries, the proposed reconstruction of Wheeling Downs and the recreational tourist attraction and employment that the rebuilding of Wheeling Downs will contribute to the Northern Panhandle area.

Members of the West Virginia Racing Commission and other state and local officials also will attend.

This 'N That In Sports . . .

EAST LIVERPOOL High School has yet to release financial reports on the 1966 football season and the 1966-67 basketball campaign, the only two inter-scholastic sports at the school this year.

Detroit May Have Sleeper In 6-7 Cager

NEW YORK (AP) — The Detroit Pistons, who landed Jimmy Walker, Providence's All-America, as the top prize in the National Basketball Association Draft Wednesday, may have come up with a sleeper in the NBA supplementary draft Thursday.

That would be Matt Aitch, a 6-foot-7 Michigan State senior whose play kept the Spartans in contention for the Big Ten championship the last two seasons.

Aitch was one of the 38 college players picked in the NBA supplementary draft after 11 rounds on Wednesday. Boston and St. Louis were the only teams which made no selections in the supplementary draft.

Palmer Includes Eagle In Round

HOUSTON (AP) — Who but Arnold Palmer could spray drives into a lake, a ditch and heavy woods for two double bogeys, then end with a three-under-par 68? He did, with six birdies and a 145-yard eagle.

Palmer, defending champion in the $115,000 Champions International was only one stroke off the leaders' pace of 67, set by Frank Beard, George Archer and Dan Sikes, as the rich golf tournament headed into its second round today.

Some called it a peculiar round. Palmer, who has won more money than any other man in golf, said "with the exception of three holes it was one of the better rounds I've played all year."

On the first tee, Palmer slammed a hooking drive into a ditch, took a penalty stroke, then a double bogey six after two putting.

He did not let the bad start bother him. By the time he made the turn over the 7,118-yard, par 71 Cypress Creek course, he had three birdies and five pars to go one under.

His birdie total ran to five through the 11th hole and he added the sixth at No. 13. Then he put a one-iron shot into a lake and suffered another double bogey.

But, on No. 15, a par 4, 415-yarder, Palmer's drive split the fairway. With a seven iron, he lofted the ball to the green 145 yards away.

"It was a three-quarter seven iron," he said. "The ball landed about four feet short and jumped right into the hole."

Palmer had a tie for the lead in his pocket as he headed to No. 17.

"I had a bad tee shot to the right trees," he said. "Then I hit a tree out of the woods and went back in. I two putted for a bogey from eight feet."

While Palmer had his ups and downs, Jack Nicklaus had only troubles, soaring to a 77. He stumbled with four straight bogeys on the front nine, then had a disastrous triple bogey seven on the 14th hole, driving first out of bounds and later into a lake.

Seiferth Nine Sets Practice Schedule

The Seiferth Real Estate team of the Colt League will practice today at 5:30 p.m. at Colt Field, Saturday at 3 p.m. and Sunday at 1 p. m. All players assigned to Seiferth's are urged to attend.

Marietta Crew Solid Pick To Win Regatta

MARIETTA, Ohio (AP) — Marietta's unbeaten oarsmen are solid favorites to capture the third annual Mid-America Regatta Saturday.

Coach Ralph Lindamood's crew, unbeaten in 10 starts, will be bidding for its third straight Mid-Am crown. The Pioneers triumphed in the first two events on the Wabash River at Lafayette, Ind.

Several thousand spectators are expected to line the Ohio River south of this college town when Marietta matches its eight-oared crew against oarsmen from Notre Dame, Michigan State, Minnesota, Kansas State, Purdue, Wayne State, Alabama (Huntsville Branch), St. Thomas (Minn.) College and Grand Valley College.

Four races, starting at 1 p.m. EDT, will be contested over a 2,000-meter course. The width of the Ohio River eliminates the need for qualifying heats and the ten 65-foot shells will vie over a straight course which measures approximately 1¼ miles.

Competition will come in four divisions— Varsity, junior varsity, freshman and lightweight. The big event, the varsity match, will be at 3:15 p.m.

Marietta is the defending small college champion of rowing by virtue of its victory in the Dad Vail Regatta in Philadelphia last May.

The Pioneers barely edged Georgetown (D.C.) University's varsity crew in a photo finish last Saturday to nail down their 10th straight victory of the year. But Marietta's junior varsity suffered its first setback in two years when the Georgetown JV scored a quarter length decision.

College Grid Coaches Seek Earlier Start

CHICAGO (AP) — An earlier start to the collegiate fall football practice was proposed Thursday by the National Collegiate Athletic Association's executive committee.

Coaches in the past have petitioned for at least a 21-day practice session and the subject of earlier starts has gained in controversy with the trend toward trimester academic programs.

Schools on a trimester basis have had a head start under the existing NCAA rule.

The rule states fall practice shall not begin prior to Sept. 1, or prior to two weeks before the day of classes, or 16 days before the first scheduled game —whichever is earliest.

The executive group, which will be joined today by the NCAA' policy-making council and extra-events committee in the weekend meetings, recommended to the council that a study committee be appointed to formulate a 1968 NCAA convention amendment changing the present preseason football pratice and starting date regulation.

Ohio Coaches Would Like To 'Kick' Punt Rule Out

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— A majority of Ohio's high school football coaches are opposed to a controversial punt rule that goes into effect this fall.

The board of directors of the Ohio High School Football Coaches Association indicated as much Thursday night at a meeting kicking off their spring clinic.

The directors adopted a motion to ask the State Board of Control for permission to keep the old rule.

Ohio football is governed by NCAA rules, with modifications sanctioned by the Ohio High School Athletic Association or the Board of Control.

Under the new rule, designed to give the receiving team a better break on returning punts, the five interior linemen on the kicking team cannot move downfield until the ball is actually punted.

The rule attempts to lessen fair catch calls by giving the receiver more time for a runback.

But scholastic coaches contend the new rule isn't applicable to high school games because the fair catch is seldom used. And they argue that the risk of injury will increase because of blocks to a player's blind side.

The subject will be taken up at a Board of Control meeting in June.

In another development, directors named a three-man committee to ask the control board to reconsider a decision made last month not to revise regulations dealing with physical fitness programs in the summer.

Coaches Marv Moorehead of Upper Arlington, Ted Federici of Oregon Clay and Bob Jackson of Columbus North will head up the committee.

Rules governing physical fitness equipment are designed to prevent secret football drills. The equipment can be used, but not indoors, and coaches argue that weightlifting apparatus is too heavy to move outdoors.

Tonight, 17 former OHSCA presidents will be honored with plaques and the coaches will be addressed by Cliff Fagan executive secretary of the National Federation of High School Athletics.

Ohio is currently considering joining the national federation which has 44 states in its membership.

Detroit May Have Sleeper In 6-7 Cager

NEW YORK (AP) — The Detroit Pistons, who landed Jimmy Walker, Providence's All-America, as the top prize in the National Basketball Association Draft Wednesday, may have come up with a sleeper in the NBA supplementary draft Thursday.

That would be Matt Aitch, a 6-foot-7 Michigan State senior whose play kept the Spartans in contention for the Big Ten championship the last two seasons.

Aitch was one of the 38 college players picked in the NBA supplementary draft after 11 rounds on Wednesday. Boston and St. Louis were the only teams which made no selections in the supplementary draft.

Ron Widby, the star of Tennessee's Southeastern Conference champions, was selected by Chicago, while the champion Philadelphia 76ers took Hubie Marshall of LaSalle.

Palmer Includes Eagle In Round

HOUSTON (AP) — Who but Arnold Palmer could spray drives into a lake, a ditch and heavy woods for two double bogeys, then end with a three-under-par 68? He did, with six birdies and a 145-yard eagle.

Palmer, defending champion in the $115,000 Champions International was only one stroke off the leaders' pace of 67, set by Frank Beard, George Archer and Dan Sikes, as the rich golf tournament headed into its second round today.

Some called it a peculiar round. Palmer, who has won more money than any other man in golf, said "with the exception of three holes it was one of the better rounds I've played all year."

On the first tee, Palmer slammed a hooking drive into a ditch, took a penalty stroke, then a double bogey six after two putting.

He did not let the bad start bother him. By the time he made the turn over the 7,118-yard, par 71 Cypress Creek course, he had three birdies and five pars to go one under.

His birdie total ran to five through the 11th hole and he added the sixth at No. 13. Then he put a one-iron shot into a lake and suffered another double bogey.

But, on No. 15, a par 4, 415-yarder, Palmer's drive split the fairway. With a seven iron, he lofted the ball to the green 145 yards away.

"It was a three-quarter seven iron," he said. "The ball landed about four feet short and jumped right into the hole."

Palmer had a tie for the lead in his pocket as he headed to No. 17.

"I had a bad tee shot to the right trees," he said. "Then I hit a tree out of the woods and went back in. I two putted for a bogey from eight feet."

While Palmer had his ups and downs, Jack Nicklaus had only troubles, soaring to a 77. He stumbled with four straight bogeys on the front nine, then had a disastrous triple bogey seven on the 14th hole, driving first out of bounds and later into a lake.

Seiferth Nine Sets Practice Schedule

The Seiferth Real Estate team of the Colt League will practice today at 5:30 p.m. at Colt Field, Saturday at 3 p.m. and Sunday at 1 p. m. All players assigned to Seiferth's are urged to attend.

Marietta Crew Solid Pick To Win Regatta

MARIETTA, Ohio (AP) — Marietta's unbeaten oarsmen are solid favorites to capture the third annual Mid-America Regatta Saturday.

Coach Ralph Lindamood's crew, unbeaten in 10 starts, will be bidding for its third straight Mid-Am crown. The Pioneers triumphed in the first two events on the Wabash River at Lafayette, Ind.

Several thousand spectators are expected to line the Ohio River south of this college town when Marietta matches its eight-oared crew against oarsmen from Notre Dame, Michigan State, Minnesota, Kansas State, Purdue, Wayne State, Alabama (Huntsville Branch), St. Thomas (Minn.) College and Grand Valley College.

Four races, starting at 1 p.m. EDT, will be contested over a 2,000-meter course. The width of the Ohio River eliminates the need for qualifyfing heats and the ten 65-foot shells will vie over a straight course which measures approximately 1¼ miles.

Competition will come in four divisions— Varsity, junior varsity, freshman and lightweight. The big event, the varsity match, will be at 3:15 p.m.

Marietta is the defending small college champion of rowing by virtue of its victory in the Dad Vail Regatta in Philadelphia last May.

The Pioneers barely edged Georgetown (D.C.) University's varsity crew in a photo finish last Saturday to nail down their 10th straight victory of the year. But Marietta's junior varsity suffered its first setback in two years when the Georgetown JV scored a quarter length decision.

College Grid Coaches Seek Earlier Start

CHICAGO (AP) — An earlier start to the collegiate fall football practice was proposed Thursday by the National Collegiate Athletic Association's executive committee.

Coaches in the past have petitioned for at least a 21-day practice session and the subject of earlier starts has gained in controversy with the trend toward trimester academic programs.

Schools on a trimester basis have had a head start under the existing NCAA rule.

The rule states fall practice shall not begin prior to Sept. 1, or prior to two weeks before the day of classes, or 16 days before the first scheduled game —whichever is earliest.

The executive group, which will be joined today by the NCAA' policy-making council and extra-events committee in the weekend meetings, recommended to the council that a study committee be appointed to formulate a 1968 NCAA convention amendment changing the present preseason football pratice and starting date regulation.

Ohio Coaches Would Like To 'Kick' Punt Rule Out

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— A majority of Ohio's high school football coaches are opposed to a controversial punt rule that goes into effect this fall.

The board of directors of the Ohio High School Football Coaches Association indicated as much Thursday night at a meeting kicking off their spring clinic.

The directors adopted a motion to ask the State Board of Control for permission to keep the old rule.

Ohio football is governed by NCAA rules, with modifications sanctioned by the Ohio High School Athletic Association or the Board of Control.

Under the new rule, designed to give the receiving team a better break on returning punts, the five interior linemen on the kicking team cannot move downfield until the ball is actually punted.

But scholastic coaches contend the new rule isn't applicable to high school games because the fair catch is seldom used. And they argue that the risk of injury will increase because of blocks to a player's blind side.

The subject will be taken up at a Board of Control meeting in June.

In another development, directors named a three-man committee to ask the Control board to reconsider a decision made last month not to revise regulations dealing with physical fitness programs in the summer.

Coaches Marv Moorehead of Upper Arlington, Ted Federici of Oregon Clay and Bob Jackson of Columbus North will head up the committee.

Rules governing physical fitness equipment are designed to prevent secret football drills. The equipment can be used, but not indoors, and coaches argue that weightlifting apparatus is too heavy to move outdoors.

Tonight, 17 former OHSCA presidents will be honored with plaques and the coaches will be addressed by Cliff Fagan executive secretary of the National Federation of High School Athletics.

Ohio is currently considering joining the national federation which has 44 states in its membership.

Group Plans To Tour Mill, Join Parades

A tour of the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co. and participation in two Memorial Day parades were discussed during a meeting of the Toastmasters Club Wednesday night at the Ohio Valley Gas Co. office. Francis House, president, presided.

Club members, their families and friends will tour the melt shops and blooming mill facilities of the Midland plant May 17.

The club will have a unit in the Memorial Day parade here and at Wellsville.

Program participants at Wednesday's meeting were Al Babb, toastmaster; Robert Harris, topicsmaster; Robert Frontz, chief evaluator, assisted by James Cunningham; speeches No. 4 by Karl Lindner and James Buchanan, and speech No. 10 by Ed Gray. Recipient of the bull-thrower award was Frontz. The most improved speaker award went to Gray.

Max Niedengard, a member of the Parks and Forests Advisory Council, was a guest and requested that the club present a program at the group's next meeting May 25 at 8 p.m. in the Parish Hall at Lisbon.

House reminded members of the Toastmistress meeting Monday at 8 p.m. in the gas company office.

Togo, in Africa, is one of the smallest countries in the world.

Fined And Jailed

LISBON — James E. Farrow, 55, of Wellsville R. D. 1 was fined $150 and costs and sentenced to three days in jail Thursday night by Mayor Dean Stockman after pleading guilty to a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol. Local police arrested Farrow Wednesday afternoon.

Group Plans To Tour Mill, Join Parades

A tour of the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co. and participation in two Memorial Day parades were discussed during a meeting of the Toastmasters Club Wednesday night at the Ohio Valley Gas Co. office. Francis House, president, presided.

Club members, their families and friends will tour the melt shops and blooming mill facilities of the Midland plant May 17.

The club will have a unit in the Memorial Day parade here and at Wellsville.

Program participants at Wednesday's meeting were Al Babb, toastmaster; Robert Harris, topicsmaster; Robert Frontz, chief evaluator, assisted by James Cunningham; speeches No. 4 by Karl Lindner and James Buchanan, and speech No. 10 by Ed Gray. Recipient of the bull-thrower award was Frontz. The most improved speaker award went to Gray.

Max Niedengard, a member of the Parks and Forests Advisory Council, was a guest and requested that the club present a program at the group's next meeting May 25 at 8 p.m. in the Parish Hall at Lisbon.

House reminded members of the Toastmistress meeting Monday at 8 p.m. in the gas company office.

Togo, in Africa, is one of the smallest countries in the world.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise: To save a few pennies on spray starch . . . I never starch the tails of my boys' shirts (the part that's tucked inside the trousers). This wouldn't mean much if I had only two or three to do each week, but I iron 20 or more weekly and it adds up in the long run.

I iron the tails carefully — but just omit the starch.

JACKIE.

That's real good thinking, I'd say.

One woman wrote that she doesn't even iron her son's shirt tails.

After all, shirt tails are not supposed to show. She saves her starch, time and energy.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Here's a hint for stretching bacon:

Flour is good, but have you tried dipping each strip into a mixture of one-part yellow corn meal to two - parts flour, then frying

I have! It's double-good and you really have something to show for your money.

V. RIVES.

DEAR HELOISE: I planted some parsnip tops in water as you did your carrot tops.

What a very pretty green plant they made!

MRS. J. S. BOARD.

Why not try parsnip and turnip tops just as we did the carrots?

Cut off the top ends, leaving about one-fourth inch of the vegetable. Place the cut side down in a bowl of shallow water and watch 'em produce beautiful ferns.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Since our budget didn't allow for a bathinette, I looked around for a substitute and found a perfect one:

We bought an inexpensive, two-tiered utility cart, and put baby's plastic bathtub on the top shelf, hung towels and wash clothes on the cart handles, and put her clean clothes, diapers, oil, etc., on the bottom shelf.

After I have bathed her, I roll the cart back into a corner in her bedroom.

When she outgrows the plastic tub I'll still have the cart to use for other purposes.

BETTY JANE.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE: Our twin boys are just beginning to talk and instead of calling me MOTHER they call me MURDER!

I wonder if they really look at me that way on my bad days?

MURDER.

DEAR HELOISE: If you have bought a jump rope in recent years you know they don't last long.

Last year, my husband and I made our six-year-old daughter a jump rope by braiding a plastic clothesline. It's heavier and longer wearing than ordinary rope.

The line smallest in diameters is best because once it's braided, the large size makes it too heavy.

AN AVID READER.

DEAR HELOISE: Here's a hint I think the teen agers might like: Do you have holes in that favorite pair of sneakers or tennis shoes? Darn them like you would socks with colored embroidery floss.

I did this to my daughter's tennis shoes and everyone asked her where she bought her decorated shoes.

Now she has a new pair and wants to make holes in them just so she can darn them.

M.A.K.

DEAR HELOISE: For jazzing up small-fry parties, a door prize is fun because everybody gets a chance to win a gift. Door prizes are always nice even for grown-up parties.

A READER.

DEAR HELOISE: Here's a quick, easy trick I picked up for making cookies:

When a cookie recipe states "drop by the teaspoon," I find that the large end of a melon scoop does the job very neatly.

Just grease the scoop lightly before you start, then dip into flour each time you take some dough. Tap the scoop on the edge of the cookie sheet and you have a nice round ball to decorate or to flatten into a neat circle with a fork.

The job is done in minutes without that scraping and pushing with a knife and spoon.

MRS. JANDRISITS.

Tear-Gas Cartridges Set Off During Talk By Gen. Taylor

HAYWARD, Calif. (AP) — Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, defending U.S. policy in South Vietnam, continued talking in an unperturbed manner Thursday night at Chabot College despite release of two tear-gas cartridges in the audience.

Taylor, former chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and former ambassador to the Southeast Asian country, spoke at the junior college's new gymnasium dedication.

He was answering questions when one cartridge was set off, driving about 75 persons from a section of the main floor. Doors were opened and ventilating fans turned on. Then, a second cartridge was set off in the bleachers forcing another 50 persons to flee.

There was no indication that the gas reached Taylor.

A police official said, "It definitely was tear gas, but no one suffered."

About 2,300 persons were in the audience. Chabot has 6,300 students.

Police said "two very small cartridges" were smashed against the rear wall of the gym, opposite from where Taylor was speaking.

Outside the gym, about 20 pickets marched in opposition to U.S.-Vietnam policy. Taylor entered the gym earlier through a rear door.

Later, another group, said to be students, set up a counter-picket line.

In his speech Taylor said bombing of North Vietnam is necessary to keep pressure on the enemy. He said he thought requests for more men on the battlefront were justified.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise: To save a few pennies on spray starch . . . I never starch the tails of my boys' shirts (the part that's tucked inside the trousers). This wouldn't mean much if I had only two or three to do each week, but I iron 20 or more weekly and it adds up in the long run.

I iron the tails carefully — but just omit the starch.

JACKIE.

That's real good thinking, I'd say.

One woman wrote that she doesn't even iron her son's shirt tails.

After all, shirt tails are not supposed to show. She saves her starch, time and energy.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Here's a hint for stretching bacon:

Flour is good, but have you tried dipping each strip into a mixture of one-part yellow corn meal to two - parts flour, then frying

I have! It's double-good and you really have something to show for your money.

V. RIVES.

DEAR HELOISE: I planted some parsnip tops in water as you did your carrot tops.

What a very pretty green plant they made!

MRS. J. S. BOARD.

Why not try parsnip and turnip tops just as we did the carrots?

Cut off the top ends, leaving about one-fourth inch of the vegetable. Place the cut side down in a bowl of shallow water and watch 'em produce beautiful ferns.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Since our budget didn't allow for a bathinette, I looked around for a substitute and found a perfect one:

We bought an inexpensive, two-tiered utility cart, and put baby's plastic bathtub on the top shelf, hung towels and wash clothes on the cart handles, and put her clean clothes, diapers, oil, etc., on the bottom shelf.

After I have bathed her, I roll the cart back into a corner in her bedroom.

When she outgrows the plastic tub I'll still have the cart to use for other purposes.

BETTY JANE.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE: Our twin boys are just beginning to talk and instead of calling me MOTHER they call me MURDER!

I wonder if they really look at me that way on my bad days?

MURDER.

DEAR HELOISE: If you have bought a jump rope in recent years you know they don't last long.

Last year, my husband and I made our six-year-old daughter a jump rope by braiding a plastic clothesline. It's heavier and longer wearing than ordinary rope.

The line smallest in diameters is best because once it's braided, the large size makes it too heavy.

AN AVID READER.

DEAR HELOISE: Here's a hint I think the teen agers might like: Do you have holes in that favorite pair of sneakers or tennis shoes? Darn them like you would socks with colored embroidery floss.

I did this to my daughter's tennis shoes and everyone asked her where she bought her decorated shoes.

Now she has a new pair and wants to make holes in them just so she can darn them.

M.A.K.

DEAR HELOISE: For jazzing up small-fry parties, a door prize is fun because everybody gets a chance to win a gift. Door prizes are always nice even for grown-up parties.

A READER.

DEAR HELOISE: Here's a quick, easy trick I picked up for making cookies:

When a cookie recipe states "drop by the teaspoon," I find that the large end of a melon scoop does the job very neatly.

Just grease the scoop lightly before you start, then dip into flour each time you take some dough. Tap the scoop on the edge of the cookie sheet and you have a nice round ball to decorate or to flatten into a neat circle with a fork.

The job is done in minutes without that scraping and pushing with a knife and spoon.

Tear-Gas Cartridges Set Off During Talk By Gen. Taylor

HAYWARD, Calif. (AP) — Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, defending U.S. policy in South Vietnam, continued talking in an unperturbed manner Thursday night at Chabot College despite release of two tear-gas cartridges in the audience.

Taylor, former chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and former ambassador to the Southeast Asian country, spoke at the junior college's new gymnasium dedication.

He was answering questions when one cartridge was set off, driving about 75 persons from a section of the main floor. Doors were opened and ventilating fans turned on. Then, a second cartridge was set off in the bleachers forcing another 50 persons to flee.

There was no indication that the gas reached Taylor.

A police official said, "It definitely was tear gas, but no one suffered."

About 2,300 persons were in the audience. Chabot has 6,300 students.

Police said "two very small cartridges" were smashed against the rear wall of the gym, opposite from where Taylor was speaking.

Outside the gym, about 20 pickets marched in opposition to U.S.-Vietnam policy. Taylor entered the gym earlier through a rear door.

Later, another group, said to be students, set up a counter-picket line.

In his speech Taylor said bombing of North Vietnam is necessary to keep pressure on the enemy. He said he thought requests for more men on the battlefront were justified.

Junior Editors Quiz on MAGNETISM

QUESTION: How does magnetism work?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Magnetism is a wonderful force which man has learned to use in many ways, from the generating of electricity to the operating of compasses. Scientists do not know all its secrets, but believe it works because of the way molecules can be arranged. Think of an iron bar. Its tiny molecules (symbolized by the diagrams at upper right) have negative electrical poles and positive poles (symbolized in black and white). In an unmagnetized metal bar, the molecules point in all directions .When magnetized, they straighten out in orderly rows. Their positive and negative poles each point the same way, making each kind of pole pull together as a unit. This attraction can reach out beyond the metal, making the almost magical force which enables Joe's magnet to pick up bits of metal as shown. The earth itself is one huge magnet. Its north magnetic pole attracts the magnetized compass needle to point continually toward it. Because of this, sailors can find their way across oceans where there are no road signs.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: In a recent column you made the statement that interfaith marriage is risky at best and you are against it.

Now I would like to ask what you think about one party's changing over and accepting the religious faith of the other.

My husband is very devout and I'm lukewarm about my religion. My parents would not like the idea of my changing over, but this would not bother me.

So far as I know, you have never expressed an opinion on this. Will you please do so in print — DIFFERENT IDEAS.

Dear Different: A mixed marriage stands a much better chance if the lukewarm party changes over and joins the devout one. Serious difficulties often develop when both parties are strong believers and each closes one eye and pretends there is no problem.

The children of such marriages are the real victims. Often they are left to choose between the mother's religion and the father's. This can produce guilt, ambivalence and anxiety.

Thanks For Memory

Dear Ann: Last weekend I took a girl skiing, out to dinner and to a dance. This set me back $14, whch is not exactly a drop in the bucket for a 16-year-old boy who has to work for every cent.

I had a good time and so did the girl. But on the way home, after dropping her off, I came to a very startling realization. What was it all for, anyway? Here I spent $14 and had nothing to show for it. Is it too much to expect a token of gratitude instead of a mere: "Good night; I had a very nice time."

I think I was taken for a sucker and I am pretty burned up about it. What's your opinion — JIM.

Dear Jim: I don't know what you mean by "a token of gratitude" but it seems to me the girl expressed her gratitude adequately when she told you she had a very nice time.

I gather you feel she should have smooched it up a little in exchange for the $14. If you would settle for a girl who hangs such a cheap price tag on herself you can't be worth much, Buddy.

Flower Picker

Dear Ann: I would like to comment on the letter from the grandmother who tried to protect her grandchild from an angry mother when the youngster picked a rose from the neighbor's garden.

I'm not a mother, but I was a grade school teacher for 30 years and I have helped train hundreds of children.

When a child brought me flowers which I suspected had been snatched along the way we would have a class discussion about respect for the property of others and plain, everyday honesty.

If the mothers of these children had spent a little time explaining these important principles of behavior, the youngsters would not have helped themselves to someone else's property.

Unfortunately it's the children who suffer when parents fail to teach them the basic rules of society. And, today, we see an appalling amount of evidence that far too many parents have failed. — RETIRED MARM.

Dear Friend: Too bad you retired. From the sound of your letter your wisdom is badly needed.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

CRUCIBLE STEEL CO. PRESIDENT John C. Lobb, right, has visited the Midland Works with Walter Gregg, left, executive vice president and chief operating officer, to view construction progress of the firm's new integrated stainless and alloy steel facilities. Lobb, named president of the firm last week, and Gregg are visiting various company locations.

New Areas Eyed By Lobb As President Of Crucible

PITTSBURGH (AP)—It doesn't necessarily take a steelman to produce steel, which is what John C. Lobb is determined to prove.

In the week since he took command of the Crucible Steel Co., Lobb has been asked repeatedly what steel experience he brings to one of the nation's largest stainless and specialty steel producing firms.

"None," he answered flatly during an interview in the company's headquarters in a downtown skyscraper. But his reputation as a management man speaks for itself.

Lobb knew little about the communications industry when he joined International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. in 1963 as an executive vice president. He organized and directed ITT's entrance into the market for technical industrial products.

IN THE next five years, Lobb led ITT into 14 different fields through sales and acquisitions to a point where the technical products group provided more than 50 per cent of ITT's domestic earnings.

"The steel industry is not limited any more than any other industry in moving into new areas in addition to maintaining their own facilities," he said.

Last year Crucible earned almost $12.5 million on sales of $319,743,000, compared with profits of $10,694,000 on sales of $313,471,000 in 1965. Last year's figures represented Crucible's best earnings performance in a decade.

But, as is common with the industry, profit margins have lagged, and Lobb is quick to admit it. Asked if he encountered any problems in his first week, he replied; "We don't make enough money."

Southern Local Seeks To Fill Principal Post

SALINEVILLE — Applicants are being sought for the post of principal at Southern Local High School and for an adult teacher aide position, Supt. Thomas Leek announced today.

The board of education is seeking to fill the principal post from which Jack Baker resigned recently. Leek said the aide position involves the regular school terms along with six weeks of summer sessions, all in assisting with a mobile reading unit.

The decision was to close the schools—one high school and four elementary schools -- because of a threatened walkout by the district's 61 teachers, who want pay raises.

The teachers stayed away from school Wednesday for a "professional study day" after the Tuesday defeat of a proposed 3-mill levy to increase teachers' salaries. They returned Thursday but said the walkout resumes today unless action was taken on their demand for $500-a-year raises.

Licking Valley's Schools Closed In Teacher Strike

NEWARK, Ohio (AP) — The state's latest school closing involving teacher discontent kept 1,200 Licking Valley School District pupils home today, a day after Martins Ferry's week-long shutdown ended.

The Licking Valley Board of Education met Thursday night to discuss the teacher problem.

The capital of Hungary consists of two cities, Buda and Pest, which are joined by bridges across the Danube. They were made one city in 1872.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: In a recent column you made the statement that interfaith marriage is risky at best and you are against it.

Now I would like to ask what you think about one party's changing over and accepting the religious faith of the other.

My husband is very devout and I'm lukewarm about my religion. My parents would not like the idea of my changing over, but this would not bother me.

So far as I know, you have never expressed an opinion on this. Will you please do so in print — DIFFERENT IDEAS.

Dear Different: A mixed marriage stands a much better chance if the lukewarm party changes over and joins the devout one. Serious difficulties often develop when both parties are strong believers and each closes one eye and pretends there is no problem.

The children of such marriages are the real victims. Often they are left to choose between the mother's religion and the father's. This can produce guilt, ambivalence and anxiety.

Thanks For Memory

Dear Ann: Last weekend I took a girl skiing, out to dinner and to a dance. This set me back $14, which is not exactly a drop in the bucket for a 16-year-old boy who has to work for every cent.

I had a good time and so did the girl. But on the way home, after dropping her off, I came to a very startling realization. What was it all for, anyway? Here I spent $14 and had nothing to show for it. Is it too much to expect a token of gratitude instead of a mere: "Good night; I had a very nice time."

I think I was taken for a sucker and I am pretty burned up about it. What's your opinion — JIM.

Dear Jim: I don't know what you mean by "a token of gratitude" but it seems to me the girl expressed her gratitude adequately when she told you she had a very nice time.

I gather you feel she should have smooched it up a little in exchange for the $14. If you would settle for a girl who hangs such a cheap price tag on herself you can't be worth much, Buddy.

Flower Picker

Dear Ann: I would like to comment on the letter from the grandmother who tried to protect her grandchild from an angry mother when the youngster picked a rose from the neighbor's garden.

I'm not a mother, but I was a grade school teacher for 30 years and I have helped train hundreds of children.

When a child brought me flowers which I suspected had been snatched along the way we would have a class discussion about respect for the property of others and plain, everyday honesty.

If the mothers of these children had spent a little time explaining these important principles of behavior, the youngsters would not have helped themselves to someone else's property.

Unfortunately it's the children who suffer when parents fail to teach them the basic rules of society. And, today, we see an appalling amount of evidence that far too many parents have failed. — RETIRED MARM.

Dear Friend: Too bad you retired. From the sound of your letter your wisdom is badly needed.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.
